Quiet Day In Saigon

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. infantrymen patrolling Saigon's outer defense ring killed 93 Viet Cong and seized 33 suspects in four clashes south and north of the capital, the U.S. Command reported today.

Inside the city and its suburbs, it was the quietest day since the Communist command launched its "second wave" offensive on May 5.

No ground action was reported.

The biggest battle in the ring around Saigon was fought by soldiers of the U.S. 25th Infantry Division who killed at least 44 Viet Cong Wednesday around a helicopter landing zone 12 miles north of the capital.

The action broke out at 11 a.m. when helicopters landed a company of American infantrymen, trying to intercept enemy units, in a landing zone surrounded by Viet Cong.

While the outnumbered Americans fought for their lives, helicopter gunships raked the enemy. Both sides moved up reinforcements but the 25th Division won the race, landing another 300 men at 2:30 p.m.

The battle continued until after midnight, then the Viet Cong pulled out and left bloody trails behind. U.S. losses were 15 killed and 14 wounded.

Another 39 enemy soldiers were killed 29 miles northeast of Saigon when they were caught by troops of the U.S. 1st Infantry Division and then hit by artillery, helicopter gunships and AC47 Magic Dragon planes with their rapid-firing miniguns. Only two American soldiers were reported killed and 18 wounded in the 90-minute fight that ended at dusk.

Troops of the U.S. 9th Infantry Division killed 10 more enemy soldiers nine miles southeast of Saigon. Five were seen dodging into a bunker, and the infantrymen destroyed the bunker and the five guerrillas.

The 33 prisoners were gathered southwest of the capital by troops of the 199th Light Infantry Brigade.

There's a Big Difference

Three years ago it seemed Highway 65, north of Sedalia, was a fairly good highway. But since that time things have changed. Top photo shows one of the old type bridges, pitted pavement and one of the dozens of curves between Sedalia and Marshall Junction. Bottom photo shows the change. The west two lanes with the long, sweeping curve and unobstructed bridge are open to traffic. The east two lanes are under construction, from Claycomb Hill to the junction, and should be in use late this year. Portions of the old roadway will be used as farm-to-market highways. Key Battle Role

A Sedalia Army Sergeant played a vital part in a recent action in Vietnam that resulted in the destruction of a Vietcong base camp.

He is Sgt. James S. Reed, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jim Reed, 1518 Cedar Drive. Since the action he has been promoted to Staff Sergeant according to word received by his parents. He has been in Vietnam since last January.

The action was a joint effort by Reed's unit, the 1st Battalion, 2nd Infantry, 1st Infantry Division, and the

BULLETIN

HAVANA (AP) — A Venezuelan airliner with 80 persons aboard was hijacked and forced to land at Santiago in eastern Cuba today, the Swiss embassy announced.

The embassy, which handles Venezuela's interests in Cuba, had no details. But reports from Santiago said a young man armed with a grenade commandeered Flight 797 from Santo Domingo, Dominican Republic, and threatened to explode the grenade unless the plane landed in Cuba.

Crime Control Bill Signed By Johnson

WASHINGTON (AP) — A crime control bill bearing Congress' first authorization of wire tapping, provisions limiting Supreme Court rulings on criminal confessions and restrictions on the sale of guns, has been signed by President Johnson.

The bill contains "more good than bad," the President said Wednesday night as he signed the measure barely four hours before it would have become law if he had not acted.

"I believe that it is in America's interests that I sign this law," he said, although he warned against the wiretapping provisions leading to the United States becoming "a nation of snoopers."

Johnson was urged to veto the bill by its opponents, who argued parts were unconstitutional and unwise. But congressional leaders predicted a veto would have been overridden.

The Senate passed the bill 72-4 and sent it to the House and an apparent rewriting in a conference committee when Sen. Robert F. Kennedy was shot June 5 in Los Angeles. Within hours of Kennedy's death the next day, the House passed the bill without change 368-17 and sent it to the White House.

Ban on Mail Order Gun Sales Approved

WASHINGTON (AP) — A strict ban on mail order sales of rifles and shotguns was approved today by the House Judiciary Committee.

The vote came just a half day after President Johnson signed into law a similar prohibition dealing with pistols and revolvers, and called for tighter restrictions over the sale of firearms.

The Senate Judiciary Committee, which had scheduled action on a corresponding bill today, put off action until next Thursday.

Sen. Thomas J. Dodd, D-Conn., chief sponsor of the administration measure, said he moved to defer a vote principally because four committee members—three of them supporters of the bill—were absent. An effort to permit the absentees to vote by proxy was rejected.

The bill approved by the House Judiciary Committee by a 29-6 vote would also prohibit the sale of rifles and shotguns to anyone living outside the state where the sale is made, or to anyone under 18.

House leaders have promised speedy action on the committee-approved bill, which can probably be brought to a vote next week.

The Senate had knocked out of the crime bill a similar prohibition affecting rifles and shotguns shortly before Sen. Robert F. Kennedy was killed early this month.

Since then, Johnson has renewed his request for long-gun controls, and with mail calling for tighter restrictions deluging Capitol Hill, favorable votes in both committees were expected.

Bills that go even farther and call for federal registration of all firearms have been introduced in both houses and are picking up support daily.

In signing the controversial crime bill on the last day before it would have become law without his acting, Johnson called its gun control provision "only a half-way step."

New Red Troops In War

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Defense Clark M. Clifford said today there is "some movement" in the apparently stalemated Paris peace talks between the United States and North Vietnam.

He acknowledged the signs of progress may be slight, but said that "I believe that both sides are there to try to arrange an ultimate disposition to the conflict."

The defense secretary reported, at the same time, that the North Vietnamese are pumping in replacements for men lost in combat in South Vietnam at a high level while the talks are going on.

Reporting at a news conference, he said that infiltration in May is estimated to have totaled about 29,000 men from North Vietnam into South Vietnam.

This is about double the figures used by Gen. William C. Westmoreland for infiltration in April.

Clifford said about 26,000 of these May infiltrators were believed to be replacements for men who have fallen in battle.

He projected a probably North Vietnamese infiltration of 20,000 men a month in June, July and August.

The defense secretary, in his second full-dress news conference since taking office March 1, said casualties on both sides have gone up as a result of the enemy's "determination to increase the level of combat."

In May, he said, the United States was losing from 400 to 500 men a week, while the enemy was losing 5,000 a week.

Sedaliens Elected At Boys State

At the 29th annual session of Missouri Boys State, held this week at Central Missouri State College, three area boys were elected to various positions.

Dennis Bruns, son of Mr. and Mrs. William C. Bergmann, 2320 West Fifth, was elected a Nationalist Candidate for Supreme Court Justice. He is sponsored by the Sedalia Kiwanis Club and will be a senior at Smith-Cotton next fall.

Frank V. Doogs, son of Mr. and Mrs. Martin Doogs, 1415 South Ohio, has been elected a State Representative from Newberry County. Frank is sponsored by the Sedalia Lions Club and attends Smith-Cotton where he is active in football and track.

John E. Atkinson, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Atkinson, Route 1, Smithton, has been elected a State Representative from Gambrel City. He is sponsored by the student council of Smithton High School, which he attends.

Further details of Boys State activities may be found on page four of this edition.

New Pattern in Peace Talks

PARIS (AP) — Despite the barrage of charges which the United States and North Vietnam exchange in their Paris talks, a new pattern of contact is emerging — a pattern that could lead to serious negotiations to end the war.

This appears to be the most encouraging development in the discussions, which began almost six weeks ago and have registered no progress toward scaling down the fighting.

The pattern became clear Wednesday when 40 minutes of a meeting that lasted less than four hours were devoted to a recess during which the two top members of each delegation talked privately and informally.

In this conversation were W. Averell Harriman and Cyrus R. Vance for the United States and Xuan Thuy and Le Duc Tho for North Vietnam. Their conversation was described as amiable but what they said was not disclosed.

The precedent of a recess for refreshments was set several weeks ago by a short break of about 15 minutes. Wednesday it clearly attained the proportions of something more than a brief respite from the formal talks.

U.S. officials hope the practice will lead to regular private discussions. William J. Jorden, the U.S. press spokesman, told newsmen: "Our feeling for some time has been that private talks are a better way of dealing with the tough issues."

The ninth session ended with an agreement between Harriman and Thuy to meet regularly each Wednesday and additionally as necessary.

Attorneys Meet

Anderson Would Avoid 'Drastic' Control Laws

Norman H. Anderson, Democratic candidate for re-election as Missouri Attorney General, advocates some sort of new gun control legislation, but not so drastic as to require registration of all firearms.

Anderson, in a talk with Sedalia newsmen Wednesday afternoon, indicated he is deeply concerned with the "very controversial" question of gun controls, and has been so concerned long before the assassination of presidential candidate Robert F. Kennedy.

Under Anderson's proposal, actual "registration" of all firearms would not be necessary. The three-point proposal, he said, would require all individuals purchasing firearms to prove they were 21 years old or older, or have their parents' consent, to prove they have had no felony convictions in the past five years, no narcotics convictions in the past five years, and that they have not been under treatment for mental disorder for the past five years.

In addition, this information should be channeled to one central office where it could be compiled and made available to all law enforcement officials in the state. At present sheriffs in all Missouri counties conduct their own registration under a state law "of sorts" now in effect.

Anderson indicated he feels the presentation of any new gun control measure at the upcoming special session of the legislature would be premature. "The situation needs considerable study. I have been in contact for years with various sportsmen, rifle associations and law enforcement officials and know any new proposal should have much discussion and study," he added.

When asked his opinion on the argument that central registration files might fall into

Law Makers Gather for New Special Legislative Session

JEFFERSON CITY (AP) — Missouri legislators came to town today for their second special session this year.

Their job in the next couple of weeks will be to pass a capital improvement bill — something they failed to do last March. This time the state has the money in sight and the bill is not expected to have much trouble.

John C. Vaughn, state comptroller and budget director, said passage of the bill would leave about $18 million in general revenue as a safe operating balance. Last spring the Senate balked because it feared the balance would be cut to a dangerously low level.

The bill carries $33,769,361 in general revenue and additional federal or other funds to make the total around $40 million. Included is $5,353,350 in special funds. Most state institutions will share in the building funds.

The bill is almost identical with one approved by the House last March except that an allotment for a science building at Southwest State College at Springfield is $600,000 smaller, thanks to a federal grant of that amount.

Besides the appropriation bill, which the House hopes to pass by Saturday, the House will consider possible impeachment of Circuit Judge John D. Hasler of Ladue.

Charges against him will be taken up next week. A special House committee recommended the action after he was indicted by a St. Louis County grand jury on charges of improper conduct in a divorce case.

Judge Hasler, 56, has denied any romantic involvement with Mrs. Jean Shelby of Poplar Bluff, the plaintiff in the case.

In addition, the governor was expected to give the Legislature a free hand to pass legislation that might help the financial plight of St. Louis and Kansas City.

St. Louis is asking an increase in certain court fees and most St. Louis legislators are reported to favor the proposal.

Kansas City officials have urged that its 1/2 per cent earnings tax law be changed so voters could consider raising it to 1 per cent. A poll by the governor's office brought little response from Kansas City legislators.

Kaysinger, Stockton Projects Pass Senate

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House passed and sent to the Senate Wednesday at $4.5 billion works appropriations bill which includes funds for Army Engineers and Reclamation Bureau projects.

Army Engineers would receive $1.152 billion, the Reclamation Bureau $272 million for construction and operation of projects.

Chairman Michael J. Kirwan, D-Ohio, of the House appropriations subcommittee which handled the bill, said the measure was $190 million under last year's appropriations and $408 million below budget recommendations. He said the appropriations approved for the Engineers was the lowest since 1962, for the Reclamation Bureau the lowest since 1958.

The list of navigation, flood control and irrigation-reclamation projects in the bill includes these from Missouri and Kansas:

Missouri
Construction: Chariton River $520,000; Clarence Cannon Jeanna Reservoir $2,280,000; Gregory Drainage District $810,000; Kaysinger Bluff Reservoir $6,650,000; Meramec Park Reservoir $950,000; Pattonsburg Reservoir

Ann Landers

Will Last Longer Without His Fat

Dear Ann Landers: I've read dozens of letters in your column from wives who are miserable because they are overweight. They say their husbands make insulting remarks, that they have tried every diet under the sun, but when they become unhappy they eat and then they become fatter and unhappier. I feel awfully sorry for these gals and I am not defending them. What I'm writing about is the other side of the coin. Fat husbands.

How can a woman get excited over a man whose belly hangs over his belt and whose second chin wears out his good silk neckties? My husband was the sweetest and the handsomest man in town when we married 18 years ago. Today he's still a sweet guy but he's a fat slob. When he tries to kiss me, 50 pounds of excess groceries get in the way. He can't walk up a flight of stairs without running out of breath. It's pathetic.

Don't misunderstand me, Ann. I love my husband dearly and I'm not looking for a slimmer model, but when the man next door walks the dog in his tennis shorts and he's got a 32 waist and his tummy is flat as a breadboard—and then my hunk of lard says, "Honey, bend down and pick up the paper for me — it's enough to make a girl cry.

Please print this, Ann. Maybe a few fat boys around the country will recognize themselves and do something about it. — CHICKEN LITTLE

Dear Chicken: Fifty pounds of excess groceries can do more than kill a romance. It can kill a guy. Urge your husband to see a doctor and get himself down to normal proportions. He'll feel better as well as look better. And he'll last longer.

Dear Ann Landers: We hear a lot these days about delinquent children. But what about delinquent parents? Mom and Dad fight like cats and dogs. I wish I had a dollar for every time we kids had to separate them and beg them to stop yelling so we could get some sleep.

Dad's favorite gag is to take embarrassing pictures of Mom and pass them around to friends when they go to a party. Once he caught a picture of her while she was asleep, with her mouth open. Another time he took a picture of her from behind. She was washing the kitchen floor in an old bathing suit and tennis shoes.

Last week Mom put a rubber snake in the medicine chest and when Dad opened up the chest the snake popped out and he darned near had a heart attack. There are five kids in our family and we are raising each other. Mom hasn't cooked a meal since my 15-year-old sister has been tall enough to reach the stove. In case you haven't guessed, they both drink a lot. Can you help them straighten around? — THE FIVE J'S

Dear J: Your parents need more help than I can give them. And since they didn't ask, I hesitate to suggest anything. You kids, however, could profit from Alateen. This organization is for children who must live with alcoholism. Write to Al-Anon Family Group Headquarters, Inc., P.O. Box 182, Madison Square Station, New York, N.Y. 10010.

"The Bride's Guide," Ann Landers' booklet, answers some of the most frequently asked questions about weddings. To receive your copy of this comprehensive guide, write to Ann Landers, in care of this newspaper, enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 35 cents in coin.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Awarded School Job

KNOB NOSTER — The R. L. Henry Construction Co., of Grandview has been awarded the contract for construction of the new addition to the Knob Noster Elementary School. Six contractors submitted bids.

According to James E. Jageman, superintendent of schools, cost of the new facilities will be approximately $14.50 per square foot.

Paper work is being completed and contracts will probably be signed in a few days, according to Jageman.

Completion date for the project is 200 calendar days after contracts are signed, with work scheduled to begin immediately. It is hoped to be able to have the classrooms ready to occupy about the first of the year.

Bids were also submitted by B. H. Brown of Clinton; C. P. Huckle Construction Co.; Dean Construction Co. of Sedalia; Scott Construction Co., and Phillips Construction Co.

Jageman also stated that architects are working on plans for the Junior High School building and they should be ready by the first of July. Bids will probably be opened the latter part of July and contracts let. Construction should start shortly after that.

The addition to the elementary building is being financed by bonds which were approved at an election held April 2.

Area Counties Reveal Old Secrets

COLUMBIA — Anthropologist-archaeologists at the University of Missouri at Columbia, assisted by scientists from other institutions, have uncovered a 10,000-year cultural sequence of the prehistoric Indians in the Western Ozark highlands of Missouri. In the current excavation season they expect to fill out a 25,000-year climatic sequence that will throw new light on the climate and flora of the region and, correlated to the cultural sequence, on the environmental factors that influenced human and animal life there.

The continuing archaeological and paleoecological explorations are being supported by a renewal grant of $37,000 from the National Science Foundation for 1968-69. Last year NSF granted $35,900 and the year before $18,000 to support the project, which is under the direction of Dr. W. Raymond Wood, UMC director of river basin archaeology and associate professor of anthropology.

The investigations focus on a series of sites in and near an old cut-off of the Pomme de Terre River known as Breshears' Valley; the sites are in Benton and Hickory Counties. One site is Rodgers Shelter, a large rock overhang which holds the longest and clearest single cultural sequence of prehistoric Indians uncovered in Southwestern Missouri. Others are spring bogs known as Trolinger Bog, Boney Spring, and Koch's Hole, which have provided an excellent plant fossil record for reconstructing the environmental history of the region from the time it was inhabited by mastodons to about 1200 A.D.

The prehistoric records are soon to be lost to further study; the whole area will be

Back From Antiquity

A mastodon jaw recovered from the excavation in Trolinger Bog is shown after being restored. The jawbone and teeth were soft and in danger of disintegration when exposed to air and were treated with epoxy to harden and preserve them. The jaw will be placed in the Museum of Anthropology in Swallow Hall on the Columbia campus. The small ruler is 5 centimeters. (1.95 in.).

inundated on the completion of the Kaysinger Bluff Dam on the South Grand and Osage rivers about 1971, and the researchers are trying to salvage as much of the important archaeological and paleoecological information as possible before then.

Findings already made include Indian skeletons dating to about 8000 B.C.; mastodon bones radiocarbon dates as some 25,000 years old; one of the oldest dog burials (5000 to 61000 B.C.) recorded for North America; muskox remains, and fossil pollen of the conifers spruce and larch, indicating the post glacial climate of the area about 25,000 years ago was much colder, that climate and vegetation were very like that of Northern Minnesota or Southern Canada at present.

The human habitation records were obtained through excavations at Rodgers Shelter; the fossil pollen and the mastodon bones were recovered from the spring bogs. Trolinger Bog has provided the clearest records. The researchers were digging to get a cross section of the stratification at the bog when mastodon bones were unexpectedly found; the remains of at least four adults and an infant were recovered. Pollen and other plant remains were plentiful and well preserved. Boney Spring also held important finds.

Working at the sites during the coming months will be Dr. Wood who with Dr. Peter J. Mehringer, Jr., research associate in palynology, and Dr. C. Vancy Haynes, Jr., assistant professor of geology, both at the University of Arizona, hope to complete the work at Trolinger Bog and Boney Spring and with it the climatic sequence. R. Bruce McMillan, a research associate in anthropology who has had charge of the field work at Rodgers Shelter, will work there again. Dr. Paul W. Parmalee, assistant director of the Illinois State Museum, Springfield, will carry on laboratory studies of animal bones. Dr. Everett H. Lindsay, a paleontologist with the University of Arizona, will study the fossil bone from Trolinger Bog and Boney Spring.

Dr. Wood said the analysis of the paleobotanical finds in the bogs this summer, combined with the past recoveries, should give an excellent record of the transition of the forest of the region from the late Pleistocene boreal or northern type forest through white pine, also associated with a more northern climate, to the modern day white oak and hickory forest prevalent in the western Ozark highlands. That transition will be the key to the climatic sequence which, with the cultural sequence, will greatly help in understanding the late Pleistocene biogeography of the Ozark highlands and the unglaciated regions of the Central United States, Dr. Wood said.

Approve Housing Measure

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Banking Committee approved Wednesday a $5.5 billion, three-year housing bill with new assistance for low-income families seeking to buy homes.

The bill is similar in major respects to one passed by the Senate May 26. Leaders aimed for a House vote in about two weeks.

The massive measure includes most of the recommendations made by President Johnson in his message urging efforts to eradicate slums and provide housing units for financially pressed households.

A major innovation is a system of interest subsidies to enable low and moderate income families to carry mortgages for home purchases. The government would pay part of the interest—in extreme cases all above one per cent.

The measure also would provide federal backing to encourage insurance companies to write policies on property in riot-prone areas and against flood damage.

The measure also would provide subsidies for rental and cooperative housing; authorization of $140 million to supplement the rent payments of low-income families and authorization of $400 million for public housing.

Strives for Union

DAMASCUS, Syria (AP) — Syria will strive continuously to make Egypt, Algeria, Iraq and Syria into one united nation, Syrian Foreign Minister Ibrahim Makhos told a lecture audience at Damascus University. "Though nothing has been realized politically in this direction," he added, "it is imperative to carry on the struggle for the union despite all hazards and handicaps." Syria once was joined with Egypt in the United Arab Republic, a name the Cairo government retained for Egypt after they split.

Vietnamese Reconnaissance Unit of Long Binh Province.

Reed was the point man for the small unit that made the first contact with the Vietcong during the attack. The scout unit that preceded the main force drew enemy fire only minutes after the unit was dropped into the area from a helicopter gunship.

"They had us pinned down for a quarter of an hour before we were joined by the main body of men," Reed said after the action.

The scout unit kept the Vietcong in the camp busy until the integrated force, under the command of Capt. Oliver Ingram, Opelika, Ala., arrived. Moving in two columns, the unit made its assault on the camp. The Vietcong, who had been dug in, were routed from their positions after several had been killed.

Capt. Ingram then sent one group from his unit to pursue the fleeing Vietcong. The other group destroyed the bunkers. The unit commander had high praise for Reed's unit action, along with the Vietnamese unit.

"Their aggressiveness was inspiring," Capt. Ingram said.

Police Win Chase

CINCINNATI (AP) — Two policemen won a foot chase at the Hamilton County Court House Wednesday. Patrolmen Dan Jones and Al Stotts spotted a familiar face looking in—a man they said was wanted for armed robbery.

They chased him through the corridors, down stairs and outside the court house and arrested him, Harold E. Walker, 23, Cincinnati, in connection with a $226 holdup Saturday.

NEW TAIL for B-52 bombers is this radome made of lightweight plastic in a honeycomb pattern of thousands of six-sided cells. The radome shields radar units which function as part of the aircraft's fire-control system.

Housing Order For Servicemen

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Defense Clark M. Clifford said today he is extending to all parts of the nation the Pentagon's ban against servicemen renting apartments or trailer courts whose owners practice discrimination.

He announced that after July 31 no member of the armed forces in the United States "will be authorized to enter into a new lease or rental arrangement at an apartment or trailer court near his base if the owner follows a discriminatory policy in leasing to servicemen."

He made it plain he was basing his move on the new civil rights law making housing discrimination illegal and on Monday's Supreme Court decision which he said "gave us an added means to end housing discrimination against any serviceman—and to end it promptly."

In a parallel action, Clifford said he is ordering establishment of procedures "as quickly as possible to make legal advice available to any serviceman who experiences housing discrimination."

"This help will include counseling him, if he so wishes, on his right to bring a lawsuit against a discriminatory landlord under the 1866 law upheld this week by the Supreme Court," Clifford's statement said.

At a news conference, the defense secretary said the ban will not apply to single family units.

His action goes well beyond moves initiated a year ago by then-Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara, who tried persuasion and invoked the ban in relatively few areas.

Even under this program emphasizing persuasion, Clifford indicated there had been major progress in eliminating housing discrimination against military men and their families.

In July 1967, he said, only 61 per cent of the rental units around military bases in the United States were open to all servicemen, regardless of race or color.

Now, he reported, 83 per cent are open—"This is a gain of 247,000 open housing units," he said.

But Clifford said there still are some landlords who discriminate, and he called this "an intolerable injustice."

Negro Named To Head A Citizens Group

KANSAS CITY (AP) — A Negro physician, Dr. Carl M. Peterson, was elected chairman of the Citizens Association Wednesday night for a one-year term.

Dr. Peterson, 54, is the first Negro to head the non-partisan political organization in its 7-year history in Kansas City.

The surgeon called for the association to broaden both its membership base and its political scope. He said Kansas City should seek home rule for the police department. The police board, which governs the department, is now appointed by the governor.

"Though we have traditionally refrained from interjecting ourselves in matters other than city elections," Dr. Peterson said, "I submit that we as individual members need to add our voices and support to those groups supporting candidates seeking county, state and federal offices who will work for the welfare of our city."

Dr. Peterson, a Democrat, succeeds Robert B. Langworthy, a Republican lawyer.

A Windy $20,000

SPOKANE, Wash. (AP) — Victor H. Barry, a retired school teacher, was enjoying a late afternoon breeze Wednesday when the breeze deposited a $20,000 check in his front yard.

"I thought at first it was some kind of advertisement. But then I saw it was real. For $20,000," Barry said. Police were called and officers determined the check had been stolen. It was made out to a mining firm.

Untangle Mountain Of Rubble

MERCER, Mo. (AP) — Bulldozers and other heavy equipment are starting to clear a mountain of tangled freight cars and cargo left by the derailment of a Rock Island freight train.

Fifty-five cars in the middle of a 101-car southbound train skewed off the tracks Wednesday afternoon. Some of them knocked down a 120-foot bridge which carried a county road over the tracks.

An oil tanker caught fire and exploded several times. Next to it was a car of nitrate fertilizer, and there were fears that it would explode.

The fire department from Princeton, Mo., fought the oil fire and wet down the load of fertilizer for more than eight hours. A car of shingles burned through the night.

U.S. 65 runs parallel to the tracks and about 100 yards away. Troopers of the Missouri Highway Patrol prevented motorists from stopping because of the danger of explosion.

The reason for the derailment was not determined immediately. Seventy cars of a freight train jumped the track at almost the same spot in November. It is just below the Iowa line in north-central Missouri.

The freight was bound from Des Moines, Iowa, to Kansas City. The locomotive units and the first 21 cars proceeded to Trenton, Mo. Twenty-one cars on the rear end were pulled back to the north.

Lions Club Members View African Animals

A trip through an African animal reservation was made by members of the Sedalia Lions Club, Wednesday noon, by way of numerous colored pictures shown by Wayne Thurston, Springfield. Among the pictures were numerous slides showing lions.

Thurston, owner of Naces Floral Co., Springfield, and a member of the Queen City Lions Club there, recently visited Africa with his son and a brother-in-law. They went on a two weeks' "shooting" safari using cameras instead of guns for their "shots."

During the showing of the slides he told of the various animals shown, their habits, and how they were found by one of the guides over the vast area of the reservation which they visited. He explained the reserves are sometimes as large as the entire state of Missouri.

The speaker was introduced by Don King, program chairman.

Guests at the meeting were John Burkholder, Extension Youth Specialist at the University of Missouri who is also in charge of the 4-H exhibits at the Missouri State Fair. He was guest of Wilbert C. Askew, Secretary of the Fair; Norman H. Anderson, Missouri State Attorney General, Robert

Rocky Steps Up His Campaign Work

By RELMAN MORIN
AP Special Correspondent

CLEVELAND (AP) — Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller is campaigning with increasing aggressiveness, working harder, talking himself hoarse.

The question remains: Is his campaign for the Republican nomination for president getting off the ground? Gaining momentum? It's a tough question.

He draws medium to large crowds. Audiences are friendly. He stirs applause and laughter.

After closed sessions with Republican state delegations, delegates frequently observe, "He made a very good impression."

GOP leaders, who do not necessarily support his candidacy, say nice things about him when they introduce him. On such an occasion, Ohio Gov. James A. Rhodes said of Rockefeller, "a bold and imaginative

Airmen's Duty Time Extended

By FRED S. HOFFMAN
AP Military Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Air Force said today that all pilots flying combat runs against North Vietnam will have to serve a full 12 months of duty, rather than leaving as soon as they complete 100 missions.

An Air Force spokesman said the action was taken to eliminate inequities between pilots who fly missions against North Vietnam and those who operate against targets only in South Vietnam.

Under the old system, the Air Force said, "some aircrew members were allowed to return from Southeast Asia upon completion of 100 combat missions over North Vietnam."

Most pilots have been able to do this in about 10 months, the Air Force said, but there have been flyers who finished their duty in as little as eight months.

On the other hand, Air Force crewmen flying solely against targets inside South Vietnam had to serve a full year of combat duty, the usual length of time for most U.S. troops in the war, regardless of the number of missions, which sometimes mounted to 300.

The Air Force denied the new order has anything to do with a pilot shortage, but it appeared obvious that extending the tours would slow up personnel rotation and thus relieve the pressure to provide replacements.

The old system allowing pilots to leave the war zone after 100 missions regardless of time was set up because flying against North Vietnam was considered a greater risk than faced in South Vietnam.

Air Force officers said that if a pilot must remain on combat duty beyond 100 missions over the North, efforts will be made to keep him out of what is called the "high risk" areas.

Navy and Marine pilots flying from carriers against targets in North Vietnam operate under no mission limit. They normally stay in the combat zone only as long as their carriers do, generally about six months at a time.

Gunshots Kill 79 In 3 Days

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Guns have taken the lives of 79 persons in the United States since midnight Sunday, an Associated Press survey showed today.

Of those, 41 were homicides, 28 were suicides and 10 were accidental deaths.

Three children were killed with firearms Wednesday, two by other children and one by a former mental patient.

The Florida Highway Patrol said Joseph McCants, 29, killed 3-year-old Francis Lee Fortune after holding her and two other children hostage. Earlier, officers said, he had shot and gravely wounded a Graceville policeman. McCants had been in a state mental hospital several times, police said.

Seven-year-old Wayne Royce of Wake, Virginia, was accidentally shot to death by his 10-year-old brother, Philip, who police said apparently was playing cowboy with a loaded gun.

Paul Alvin Witcher, 7, was shot and killed in a rural section of Franklin County, Virginia. Sheriff's police said a 14-year-old relative, Johnny Ray Witcher, was playing in the basement of his home with a rifle he thought was unloaded. He fired through the window, hitting the younger boy in the head.

Demands for gun control legislation have been increased by three assassinations, the most recent being that of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy.

Coroner Andrew J. Toman of Cook County (Chicago) said Wednesday that more persons died from gun wounds in the county during 1967 than died in automobile accidents.

He said 607 firearms deaths were reported compared with 591 traffic fatalities.

The FBI reported that approximately 6,500 persons were murdered with firearms in 1966—an average of 125 gun homicides a week. Total homicides for 1966, the FBI said, was 10,920 persons.

This included stabbings and stranglings. The FBI said 60 percent of the homicides in America result from firearms.

The Associated Press is making a week's survey of gunshot deaths. The count began at midnight Sunday and will continue through Sunday, June 23.

The 1,500-mile range missile, unleashed by the submerged nuclear submarine Thomas Edison, was destroyed high over the Atlantic Ocean by the range safety officer when its first stage "became erratic" after about one minute of flight. It was the year's second Polaris misfire.

Seek Probe Of KC Police Riot Actions

KANSAS CITY (AP) — The Civil Rights Advisory Commission of the Jackson County Court today asked for an investigation by the Department of Justice into actions of Kansas City police during rioting here last April.

The 25-member commission said it was not condemning the police but was joining other civil rights groups raising several questions about police action. It said it is "imperative that an impartial agency with legal power scrutinize all the available data."

Among the questions brought up by the commission today was whether the use of tear gas and chemicals served to stimulate rather than to control disorder. Another question was whether full and effective use was made of Negro police officers.

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A wispy, silver-haired lawyer who looks like a small-town banker but turns into a tiger in the courtroom will defend Sirhan Bishara Sirhan, the accused assassin of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy.

Russell E. Parsons' own description of his 40-year career is perhaps a clue to his taking what undoubtedly will be his most famous case: "I've been fighting for the underdog all my life. I'm just a hard-working journeyman lawyer."

Parsons will work without fee in behalf of the 4-year-old Jordanian immigrant charged with shooting Kennedy in the kitchen of the Ambassador Hotel on the morning of June 5.

He indicates he may argue that Sirhan suffered from brain damage. But he declined to specify his strategy and admitted only that he is defending another client who suffered a type of brain damage.

A psychiatrist will examine Sirhan "from the tops of his shoes to the tip of his head," Parsons said.

After an American Civil Liberties Union attorney announced Sirhan's selection, newsmen ascended to Parsons' fourth-floor Civic Center office and found: — A 69-year-old legal veteran who has tried about 5,000 cases and on appeal won California's celebrated "Cahan decision" barring illegally acquired evidence.

— A wiry, 5-foot-7, 137-pound man, hawk-faced, with thinning hair combed straight back, piercing blue eyes behind thin-rimmed spectacles, snappy answers in a shallow voice.

"He seems quiet," said an associate, "but in court he roars."

Said others: "He's an orator of the old school... in the tradition of Clarence Darrow..." "Lawyer's lawyer," and—

"When he argues to a jury, chills go up and down your spine."

Hotel Is Stuck With Food Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — After a hard day of marching, some 80 members of the Poor People's Campaign dropped into the plush Statler Hilton Hotel for dinner Wednesday night wearing derim overalls and mud caked boots.

After a brief disagreement over whether they were properly attired, the group had a few drinks, a meal and then a management spokesman said, departed with two-thirds of the checks unpaid.

The hotel spokesman added, however, that some of the group signed bar checks, saying they would be taken care of by the campaign.

Shortly after arriving at the hotel the group, which included both whites and Negroes and one man wearing an ankle length terry cloth bath robe, said three of their number had been refused service for improper attire.

They said they would stage a sit-in until they were served but after about an hour the hotel manager, Lou Del Coma, said they could eat in the dining room.

Del Coma said the hotel does not require coat and tie, but does require "normal dress." He said refusal to seat the party was "not in the least a question of discrimination."

The hotel spokesman declined to say what the unpaid checks amounted to, but added "it wasn't a whole lot."

On the street, they said, he unfailingly contributes to panhandlers and blind peddlers. Twice a grandfather, he walks two or three miles a night, goes deer hunting annually in Utah and escapes on weekends with his wife Victoria to their home in Palm Springs.

But his only real hobby is the law, at which he puts in 12-hour days.

Parsons was born near downtown Los Angeles where his contractor father helped build the 3rd Street tunnel after helping build the Palace Hotel in San Francisco, the U.S. Grant Hotel in San Diego and Hotel Utah opposite the Mormon Tabernacle in Salt Lake City.

"I'm a Jack Mormon, which means not a very good one," said Parsons. "I don't smoke, I don't swear much and I drink not at all—I used to but not much."

He looks upon the Sirhan case as "a big assignment, a tremendous responsibility. Any criminal case is."

Old GOP Policies Are Big Issue in Campaigns

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey called today for re-examination of the "old policies" but Republican Nelson A. Rockefeller charges both Humphrey and GOP rival Richard M. Nixon want to relive the past.

And Nixon says the only way to bring change if Humphrey is the Democratic presidential nominee will be for Democrats, Republicans and independents to join Nixon, "marching under a Republican banner."

Humphrey, ending his campaign moratorium since Sen. Robert F. Kennedy's assassination, called for the policy re-examination in prepared National Press Club address.

He said the next president faces a new period in history in which "the old premises, the old policies, all the old way of doing things are being brought into question."

The vice president said "the status quo when it sustains hunger, injustice... or subjugation of one man by another" will not be accepted—but he did not say the old policies should be cast aside wholesale.

"There is nothing less in this," he said, "than the need to re-examine — and to change where necessary — our national priorities, the allocation of our resources, the structures and framework in which we work."

Humphrey said he means to rally Americans "to do whatever is necessary to make this Democratic system of ours bend and shape to new conditions as it always has before."

But New York Gov. Rockefeller said Humphrey would "live the last four years all over"—and he said Nixon, his opponent for the GOP nomination, advocates "the leadership that failed eight years ago."

Rockefeller made the direct, naming-names attack in Cleveland and said he had read newspaper reports Nixon would not accept his challenge to a debate.

But Nixon, in New York, continued to ignore Rockefeller and concentrated on Humphrey.

"If as generally expected Hubert Humphrey is the Democratic nominee," Nixon said, "there will be one way that those Democrats who want change can get a change"—voting for Nixon.

Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy, Humphrey's Democratic opponent, was celebrating his decisive New York primary victory—and said he will press for a share of the 65 additional delegates to be named later by the Democratic State Committee.

With some contests in New York's Tuesday primary still undecided, McCarthy had 52 of the 123 delegates at stake, allies of the late Sen. Robert F. Kennedy 25 and Humphrey 5.

Twins Girls Drown In Swimming Pool

WOODLAND HILLS, Calif. (AP) — The twin daughters of heavyweight wrestler Buddy "Killer" Austin drowned in the family swimming pool.

The 15-month-old twins, Sandrina and Christina, were pulled from the pool Wednesday by their 11-year-old brother Kevin. Their mother, Carmelita, and a neighbor administered mouth-to-mouth resuscitation in the back yard.

Authorities said the infant girls apparently had left the house through an open sliding glass door and fallen into the pool while playing.

Their father, whose real name is Austin Rogers, was not at home.

Mysticism Is 'In' In Fashions

By JEAN SPRAIN WILSON
AP Fashion Editor

NEW YORK (AP) — With their men in Nehrus and with gurus pondering over their medallions women have had to come to the Indian thing too.

Larry Aldrich and his designer Marie McCarthy are offering a princely bit of mysticism opulent enough to awe a rajah and expensive enough to make him an ex-rajah.

"These are very wearable, if you can afford them," Aldrich said at the opening of New York Couture Groups weeklong preview of fall collections.

The Aldrich style Nehru fits into everybody's theme song for restful simplicity. The princess lines of rajah coats and Nehru or guru tunics jive with the currently revived idea of showing the body the way it is and not as some designer would have it.

In sheer dark stockings and brown pumps, the models appeared in quiet-hued daytime dresses with Asian banded collars, some with girdled midriffs and swinging skirts and nearly all with yards and yards of chain dangling at their neck.

For evening wear the styles were simply the same, but opulently executed in gold brocades or dazzling jewels: or outlined on chiffon, or velvet, with bands of gold braid or jewels.

Just as establishment has given status to Indian mysticism recently popularized by the hippies, it has also glitterized and glamorized the hippie vest. The Aldrich version, blazing with jewels, slipped over a simple white satin dress with a guru neckline, of course.

UN Ends Work On Treaty

By WILLIAM N. OATIS
Associated Press Writer

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The United Nations has completed its action on the treaty to check the spread of nuclear weapons, and the United States, Britain and the Soviet Union are expected to open it for signature in Washington, London and Moscow before the end of the month.

The Security Council welcomed declarations Wednesday by the three atomic powers that they would seek the council's immediate aid for any non-nuclear country subjected to nuclear aggression or threat after accepting the treaty.

The three pushed such a proposal through the council by a vote of 10-0, with Algeria, Brazil, France, India and Pakistan abstaining. A week earlier, a resolution commending the treaty had gone through the General Assembly by a vote of 95-4 with 21 abstentions.

After the council acted, Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Vasily V. Kuznetsov said the road was now clear for opening the treaty for signature.

U.S. Ambassador Arthur J. Goldberg said the United States would "move as speedily as possible" to do that "at a very early date," in concert with the two other powers.

The treaty, drafted by the United States and the Soviet Union and sent here from the Geneva Disarmament Committee, commits countries with nuclear weapons not to transfer them to other countries with nuclear weapons not to transfer them to other countries and those without them not to acquire them. It will take effect when ratified by those two, Britain and any 40 other signers.

Trade Balance Upset Proves Crisis Is Here

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — If any evidence is needed that the world's monetary problems are still close to a crisis condition it has been provided by reports of a deterioration in the British trade balance.

In recent years confidence in paper money, not just in the pound sterling, has declined steadily, the result of inflation, international payments problems and internal turmoil that has made people question the societies of which the paper is a symbol.

In the past several months the world has been less eager to hold dollars. The British have been forced to devalue the pound from $2.80 to 2.40. And now the French and their franc are wobbling.

Stated simply, the danger is that these major currencies, which provide the oil for the machinery of international commerce, might become so unacceptable that the gears will begin grinding and might even jam.

Dr. Pierre Rinfret, an international consulting economist, has just released a special report for his corporate customers, called "Crisis and You," in which he describes a financial emergency.

It exists, he says, "when people abandon all forms of securities, bank deposits, debt instruments and representations of money for cash in the strongest currency available, including gold and silver."

The cash, therefore, "is taken out of productive use and disappears into hoard." It is hoarded because to leave it invested might mean, in the hoarder's view, that it would deteriorate or be unavailable when needed.

To some extent this already is occurring. Since November speculators have converted as much as $3 billion of paper into gold, much of it from U.S. vaults. And the situation still isn't stabilized.

If improvements in monetary matters—or the certain prospect of improvements—do not develop in the next few months, some analysts look for more crises, perhaps in the fall, when the International Monetary Fund meets.

The British are trying every measure to avoid another crisis. Britain is on an austerity diet of taxes and wage controls designed to reduce intake and boost output. It's a boxer's regimen.

Half a year after devaluation, when results should be showing, the British have announced that May exports dropped and imports rose, the opposite of what was desired.

The trade figures showed exports $12 million less than in May and imports $24 million higher, despite the fact that exports were made more competitive and imports more expensive by the devaluation.

in the pound was lost. Questions arose as to its real worth, and many people felt that worth was less than $2.40. And so the pound dropped sharply.

Now the question arises: How far would the price of the pound drop if the British and their allies didn't come into the market to buy pounds and thus maintain the price around $2.40?

Talks already are developing among financial men that this artificial price maintenance cannot continue much longer without a reversal in the British trade picture.

If this improvement does not come the pound could be devalued again or left without supports to seek its real level based on supply and demand.

Marichal Win May Lead To A Record

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer

The strong young arms were at it again in the National League Wednesday night. A couple of strong old ones did pretty well, too.

Juan Marichal, who's pushing 30... years and maybe victories as well... won his 13th game and ninth straight, pitching San Francisco to a 5-1 victory over Philadelphia. Elderly Bob Veale, all of 32, hurled a six-hitter and Pittsburgh won its eighth straight, 2-1 over Los Angeles.

So much for the senior citizens. Steve Carlton, 23, headed the kiddie corps' show with a one-hitter, hurling St. Louis to a 4-0 victory over Chicago. Jerry Koosman, 24, won his 11th game for the New York Mets, pitching a five-hitter to beat Houston 8-2. And Ron Reed, 25, fired a four-hitter for Atlanta's 3-1 victory over Cincinnati.

In the American League, Boston dropped Detroit 8-5, Minnesota shut out Washington 3-0, Cleveland topped Chicago 4-1, Oakland downed Baltimore 5-3 and California nipped New York 3-2.

Marichal, 13-2, leads the majors in victories, and has achieved his total with just over one-third of the season over. It's a timetable that could lead to 30—a plateau that hasn't been reached since Dizzy Dean did it in 1934.

The Giants' ace had help against Philadelphia from another elderly operative—Willie Mays. The Amazing One slashed consecutive triples in the seventh and eighth innings, scoring two runs and knocking in one, as the Giants snapped a 1-1 tie. The two triples tied Mays with Ty Cobb for fourth place on the alltime extra base hit list with 1,139.

Carlton, 8-2, allowed only a fourth inning single by Glenn Beckert and hurled his fourth shutout. He struck out nine and permitted just four base runners.

Orlando Cepeda provided all the offense Carlton needed, hammering a three-run homer in the bottom of the third inning against loser Rich Nye. It was Cepeda's eighth homer of the season.

Veale outpitched another of the strong young arms—Los Angeles' Bill Singer—as the Pirates beat LA with a Dodger-like attack.

Maury Wills singled in the sixth inning, moved to second on a sacrifice, reached third on a passed ball and came in on Willie Stargell's sacrifice fly, tying the game at 1-1. In the seventh, Gene Alley walked, stole second, took third on Singer's wild pickoff throw and scored on... May's single. Koosman, 11-2, led a Met club record with his sixth consecutive victory and breezed past the Astros.

Cleon Jones sparked a four-run first inning rally with a triple and then homered in the fifth as the Mets accomplished the fastest knockout of a pitcher in their history by disposing of Don Wilson after the first three batters reached base in the first inning.

Reed, who won his first six decisions and then dropped three in a row, finally won No. 7 by beating the Reds.

Green Ridge Jumps Into Top Position

The Central Missouri Real Estate team in the regular Wednesday night trap shooting league at the Sedalia Rod and Gun Club was knocked down to eighth place as the Farmers and Merchants Bank of Green Ridge jumped to top position.

Following Wednesday night's firing the "Bankers" had a 469 score to take the lead while the Real Estate boys found themselves with 443 points. The league leaders after the night of firing must drop to the back line to shoot from the following week giving other teams a better advantage.

The standings as of Wednesday night are: Farmers and Merchants Bank 469; Ray's Skelly Service Station, Green Ridge, 464; Cash Hardware and S & M Athletic Store tied with 463; LeRoy's Steak House 461; Red Wing Pest Control 460; Vic's Package Store 458; State Fair Restaurant 448; Central Missouri Real Estate 443; Third National Bank 427; Bill and Marcia's Cafe Green Ridge 394.

High team score for the night was Ray's Skelly Station with 109x125. Second High LeRoy's Steak House with 106x125.

High individual scores went to Bill Neth, Sedalia and Bernard Dove, Green Ridge, both having 25x25; second honors to John Rose, and Chuck Williams, both of Sedalia who fired 24x25.

Twins Take Senators In Sixth Straight Win

By ED SCHUYLER Jr.
Associated Press Sports Writer

A baseball equation: 1,000 plus 100 equals six. At least that was the formula used by the Minnesota Twins.

Harmon Killebrew singled home Minnesota's first run—the 1,000th hit of his big-league career—and Dean Chance pitched a three-hitter for his 100th major league victory as the Twins beat Washington 4-0 Wednesday night for their sixth straight triumph.

In other American League action, Oakland topped Baltimore 5-3, California nipped the New York Yankees 3-2, Boston outslugged Detroit 8-5 and Cleveland edged the Chicago White Sox 3-1.

In the National League Pittsburgh nipped Los Angeles 2-1. St. Louis blanked the Chicago Cubs 4-0, Atlanta turned back Cincinnati 3-1, San Francisco beat Philadelphia 5-1 and the New York Mets trounced Houston 8-2.

Killebrew's hit drove in Ted Uhlaender, who had doubled, in the fifth inning, and the run was all Chance needed in running his record to 6-8 with his second shutout and sixth complete game of the season.

The veteran right-hander struck out 10, walked none and allowed just two runners as far as second in sending the Senators to their eighth straight defeat.

Uhlaender homered and Jackie Hernandez singled in two more runs for the Twins in the seventh.

Pinch hitter Floyd Robinson gave Oakland its victory when he broke a 3-3 tie with a two-run double in the seventh. The hit came off relief pitcher Roger Nelson with two out and the bases loaded via walks to Rick Monday and Reggie Jackson sandwiched around Sal Bando's double.

All three Baltimore runs off Jim Hunter, who went the distance, were unearned.

California gained its victory on Steve Barber's wildness, a double and an error. With one out in the ninth, Barber issued his 10th walk to pinch hitter Woody Held. Pinch runner Tom Burgmeier then scored when Vic Davalillo doubled and right fielder Andy Kosco fumbled the ball.

Leo Rodriguez singled home two California runs in the third. Joe Pepitone homered in the fourth and Jake Gibbs in the seventh off winner Sammy Ellis to tie it for the Yankees.

Ken Harrelson's hitting overcame five Boston errors and led the Red Sox past Detroit. Harrelson singled home a run in the first and put Boston ahead 5-4 with a three-run homer, his 15th in the seventh. The Red Sox added three unearned runs in the eighth.

Willie Horton hit his 18th homer and Norm Cash also belted one for Detroit.

Luis Tiant registered his 10th victory against five losses for Cleveland by setting the White Sox down on three hits.

Russ Snyder and Tony Horton broke a 1-1 tie with RBI singles in the Cleveland seventh. Chicago had taken a 1-0 lead on pitcher Bob Priddy's homer in the fifth, and Cleveland tied it in the sixth on a walk, a wild pitch and Duke Sims' double.

Harrelson Blasts Tiger Fans After Being Struck

DETROIT (AP) — Boston's Ken Harrelson blasted Detroit baseball fans after being struck in the back Wednesday night by a heavy duty firecracker in the ninth inning.

Harrelson drove in four runs in the Red Sox 8-5 victory over the American League leading Tigers.

Harrelson said the firecracker, one of five tossed into right field in the ninth inning, exploded in back of him.

"What if it landed in front of my face," said Harrelson. "I'm blind. A few fans like that give a city like Detroit a bad name all the time. Detroit is the only town in the league where this happens. You don't get that stuff in the rest of the league."

Harrelson said fans bombarded left fielder Joe Lahoud and centerfielder Reg Smith with beer cans and bottles in the late innings after Detroit had fallen behind 5-4 in the seventh on Harrelson's three-run homer.

With two out and two strikes on Don Wert in the Detroit ninth, the Detroit management announced the game would be forfeited unless fans stopped throwing things onto the field. The public address announcement came after another firecracker exploded near Harrelson in right field. Wert struck out to end the game.

Harrelson tossed his glove down and began to walk off the field but was urged to return to his position by umpire Al Salerno.

"If there hadn't been two strikes on Wert I'd have walked off the field," said Harrelson. "This is ridiculous. There were six guys screaming and cursing in right field... with women and children standing there... and not a cop around."

Mickey Lolich, one of the Detroit pitchers, said the fireworks were of the M 80 variety, clindrical and about the size of a man's thumb.

"That kind has stuff like TNT in them," said Lolich, who is in the National Guard. "A guy doesn't need basic training. Just play the outfield in Detroit."

BABE RUTH RESULTS

The first game in Babe Ruth play Wednesday night saw McCown Brothers defeat S & M 10 to 7. Rick Burlingame, McCown's catcher, highlighted the evening by putting his first home run of the year over the left center field fence. Mike Melton was the winning pitcher and Warren Jackson was the losing pitcher.

The seco game between Rotary and Adco was a little one sided. The score was 16 to 7 Rotary's favor. Steve Gerlecz, Rotary's third baseman, connected with his second home run of the season. Steve's next time at bat he hit an inside the park home run. Walter Baker was the winning pitcher with Ty Wood as the losing pitcher.

Carlton Can't Let 'Nellie' Get Ahead

ST. LOUIS (AP) — "I can't let Nellie get ahead of me," Steve Carlton said Wednesday night after he had pitched a brilliant 4-0, one-hit victory for the St. Louis Cardinals over the Chicago Cubs.

The win gave Carlton an 8-2 record and pulled him even in wins with teammate Nelson Briles, 8-5, who shutout the Cubs 1-0 Tuesday night. It was Carlton's fourth shutout this season.

Carlton, a 6-foot-4, lefthander, struckout nine and walked none in winning his first game since June 4.

Billy Muffett, Cardinal pitching coach, said Carlton "looked real, real good. His curve ball was really biting." Muffett said that Carlton had a full count on only two batters and threw only 102 pitches.

Manager Leo Durocher of the Cubs agreed that Carlton pitched a great game as Chicago extended its scoreless streak to 37 innings.

"He pitched a helluva ball game," Durocher said.

Glenn Beckert was the only Cub to get a hit—a clean single in the top of the fourth inning. "Beckert hit a fast ball," Carlton said after the game. "It was a good hit, although I thought the pitch was a ball."

Orlando Cepeda's three-run homer in the bottom of the third got Carlton an early lead and he was never in trouble. No runner reached second base as Carlton pitched the first one hitter of his major league career.

"Beautiful, Beautiful," said Cepeda after the victory. He said he hit a low, inside pitch from loser Rich Nye for his eighth homer.

It was the Cardinals' fourth straight victory, enabling them to maintain their 5½ games lead over Atlanta.

Carlton, a 23-year-old pitcher from Miami, Fla., says he sticks mainly with a fast ball and curve.

Someone asked Carlton if he'd ever tried a slider and he said, "Muffett won't let me touch a slider."

Perhaps Carlton felt best about not allowing a base on balls. "I had real good concentration tonight," Carlton explained.

In his last start Carlton hit a homer against Atlanta but didn't get the pitching verdict. One of Carlton's first remarks after going hitless in four tries Wednesday night was, "Well, there goes my hitting streak."

Mets Turn Corner On Way to Top

NEW YORK (AP) — Smooth-throwing Jerry Koosman and the scrambling New York Mets have turned another corner in their separate but closely related flights up the National League ladder.

Koosman fired a five-hitter Wednesday night and passed the halfway mark in his quest for a 20-victory rookie season as the Mets pounded the Houston Astros 8-2.

The Mets, whose bid to reach the break-even mark for the first time this late in a season was frustrated in a doubleheader loss to the Astros Tuesday night, bounced back with a 10-hit attack that swept Koosman to his 11th victory in 13 decisions.

The victory left New York at 30-33, tied with Chicago and Cincinnati for seventh place and two games out of the first division.

"I'm throwing more off-speed pitches because I'm learning how," said Koosman, who has completed eight of his 14 starts and boasts a 1.52 ERA.

Injuries, Panic In Wake of Tremors

MILAN, Italy (AP) — An early morning earthquake struck a wide section of northern Italy
Tuesday, causing damage, panic and some injuries.

The shock lasted several seconds. It struck in an arc from west of Turin to east of Milan and down toward Bologna and Florence.

It was the worst quake in the industrial areas of Turin and Milan in nearly 20 years.

Buildings swayed and walls cracked in the larger cities. In the countryside the shock touched off landslides and toppled old farm buildings.

Several persons were reported hurt from falls.

Heart Transplant Costs Run High

By ALTON BLAKESLEE
AP Science Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — In time, human heart transplants may become commonplace.

But their cost in dollars will likely remain uncommonly high. There are no hard figures on the real, total cost of each heart transplant carried out so far. But it ranges up to $50,000 each, one heart specialist estimates.

If—and this is still a big "if"—heart transplantation proves out successfully, then at least 10,000 Americans might be candidates for new hearts each year, says Dr. Donald Fredrickson, former director of the National Heart Institute.

The high cost of getting new organs for old is already being faced by thousands of young and older people with kidney disease. For them, transplantation of a kidney can be successful now in most cases. Blood-purifying machines can keep them going, too, but this treatment is also expensive.

In one heart case in which there are some precise figures—that of Michael Kasperak who received a borrowed heart at Stanford university last January—the hospital bill totaled $28,845.83. This amounts to about $1,900 a day for the 15 days he lived after operation.

Blue Cross hospital insurance covered $21,580 of this sum. Fellow workers and others are paying or have paid the remaining $7,265.83 expenses for blood by replacing 288 pints.

In this case, and presumably all others so far, the surgeons donated their services.

Costs of heart transplants performed to date have apparently been borne mainly through medical insurance, through research funds, or private contributions, including contribution of skills and services.

Fredrickson, now chief of the Laboratory of Molecular Diseases of the Heart Institute, says he does not expect costs to decline significantly in the next few years even if heart transplants become rather routine. A prime expense is many days of hospitalization under intensive, special care.

About 1,900 kidneys have been transplanted, mostly within the last few years, and 90 per cent of patients getting new kidneys live for at least one year.

Costs have come down within the last decade. At one center for kidney transplants, the cost averaged $17,750 over a three-year period. Now it averages $13,300, with another $200 to $1,000 a year for follow-up costs. Artificial kidneys—machines that purify the blood—are keeping victims of kidney disease alive through repeated use at hospitals or in the home. The annual cost ranges from $5,000 up.

The National Kidney Foundation cites estimates that 5,000 to 10,000 Americans die each year from chronic kidney disease, and that many of them could enjoy extra years of life if treated by kidney machines or borrowed kidneys.

But besides the enormous cost, there is a shortage of trained personnel and lack of adequate treatment facilities.

Bills introduced in Congress this year would provide $140 million over the next five years to set up and operate artificial kidney and kidney transplant centers.

Washington Allston, the painter, has been called the "American Titian."

Handled By Book

ST. JOSEPH, Mo. (AP) — Letters are being carried from the county jail to the main post office and back to the county jail as the result of a letter-writing friendship that has bloomed between a man and woman in jail.

Sheriff C. A. Jenkins said each letter is censored, stamped, and handled like regular mail. The postman picks it up and then delivers it back to the jail.

A 'Friendly' Hit

The damaged smoke stack of the Australian destroyer Hobart is visible after the ship arrived at the U.S. Navy base in Subic Bay, Philippines, the apparent victim of stray American missiles. Two Australian crewmen were killed and seven injured in the attack, which apparently occurred while American planes were engaged in battle with Communist helicopters.

Remember Dumas

BUENOS AIRES (AP) — Argentines will unveil here next week a small monument honoring their late countryman Vito Dumas on the 25th anniversary of his solo conquest of Cape Horn in a 27-foot sailboat. His unprecedented rough-water feat of June 25, 1943, on a round-the-world solo voyage has been matched by two British lone sailors: Sir Francis Chichester in 1967 and E. Rose this year. Dumas died three years ago at 65.

The trade winds always blow from the northeast and the southeast.

Hal Boyle's Column

The Working Girls Discuss Their Bosses

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — It was an ordinary luncheon meeting for the office working ladies at their nearby quick service grill and beanery, the "In-and-Out Club."

They were hen-pecking their problems as usual. A curious male bystander heard these typical examples of current female prose in the industrial arena: "I would rather stay single forever than marry any of the available jerks in my place."

"He isn't a bad guy to work for if you don't mind spending eight hours a day with a person who wears a clip-on 75-cent bow tie and whose mind falls apart at 9:02 a.m."

"I would describe him as an employer who is just finding out he is tied alive to a wife he doesn't want to be found dead with."

"When he uses a word I don't understand, I simply cross my legs—and he starts the sentence all over again."

"His basic problem is that his wife does understand him—and so do I."

"Watch out for Maude. She always orders a third one because her boss has four at lunch—and that means she doesn't have to worry about him being able to smell her breath after lunch."

"I hate to go to business and have the kids come home to an empty house. But if I don't go to business, how can we afford a color television set, and you know how important color television is to the modern child."

"Mabel... Mabel, honey... don't look so blue. You were right and he was wrong. Anyway, none of them are worth it."

"I don't care how much trouble men are. I'd rather argue with one of them than to spend my life cutting up beef kidneys for a cat."

"Well, if the rest of you girls think we should have another round, heaven knows I don't want to be the only kill-joy in the crowd."

"Yeah, don't look at the table to the right now. It's the homely guy who is staring at us. Pretend you don't notice. Maybe the guy next to him—he's better looking—will turn this way. I think he's playing hard to get."

"Well, girls, shall those of us who are free go to an educational program this evening, or meet at somebody's house and take off our shoes and have fun?"

"See him over there—the one with the blue eyes and his mouth full of corned beef and cabbage? Ny-uss, huh. Ny-uss! For him I'd give my blood to the Red Cross."

"I could get a merit raise anytime I want to, but up to now I don't need a merit raise that much."

"Will somebody please tell Mildred to pull her skirt down? This is a business girls' luncheon, not a free burlesque show."

"My husband will probably meet me after work. After all, he should. I lent him the money to put gas in the car."

"Well, girls, shall we head back to the salt mine and start finding out where our bosses are trying to hide out for the rest of the day?"

"Yes, here comes Freddy with the check. Okay, girls, everybody get out their pens and pencils and start figuring. Was it you, Agnes, who ordered the chicken salad or the super club sandwich?"

Reveal Data On Graduates In Missouri

JEFFERSON CITY (AP) — The Missouri Division of Commerce and Industrial Development reported today its survey shows that 60,316 young people graduated from high school in Missouri this year.

Of the total an estimated 29,000 will not go to college. They will, instead, go into the labor force, enter military service, attend trade schools or, in the case of some young women, marry and remain off the labor force.

The idea behind the study is to provide industry with an estimate of the new source of labor and help the young people get jobs.

Irony in a Ban

TAMPA, Fla. (AP) — A cigar factory has banned smoking on the premises after a fire damaged inventories. The blaze was started by a discarded cigarette, the manager said.

Most Work Steadily to Convince Reds

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Special Correspondent

The U.S. delegation at the Vietnam talks in Paris is facing a tough, uphill struggle as it tries to convince North Vietnamese leaders that they are misreading American and world opinion.

If it succeeds at all, the delegation may be at the job for the rest of the summer.

The Americans appear convinced that the major reason for the deadlock is that North Vietnam expects in the long run to win a propaganda victory which it hopes will force the United States into making a major concession.

North Vietnamese leaders, say the Americans, see it this way: The United States has gone part of the way toward ending bombing and acts of war against North Vietnamese territory, so why not go the rest of the way and then see what happens?

The United States, as of now, does not intend to do this without some reliable assurance that North Vietnam will do something in return toward de-escalating the war in the South.

One reason why week-long recesses have been agreed to, the Americans say, is that the Hanoi delegation must check back with the ruling politburo in North Vietnam on virtually every word it says or intends to say in Paris.

The process involves regular meetings of the politburo each week to consider strategy and to assay the effects of each meeting upon world opinion.

The Americans say, however, that Hanoi is reading world and American opinion from its own vacuum, and is reading it the wrong way. The U.S. delegation members appear convinced that there has been a steady change in favor of the American side since President Johnson made his March 31 speech renouncing renomination for the presidency, limiting the bombing of North Vietnam to the panhandle below the 20th parallel and opening the way for the Paris talks.

The talks, however, settled down into a propaganda war. The North Vietnamese delegation not only has rejected the efforts of the chief U.S. negotiator, W. Averell Harriman, the change this, but has re-emphasized the propaganda aspects of the Paris conference.

A week ago, Harriman asked Xuan Thuy, chief of the Hanoi delegation, once again to abandon the practice of giving out prepared statements, full of accusations and vitriol, after each session, and to go down to less public negotiating. Thuy said he would take the proposal under advisement, and for the moment the Americans thought they might have made some progress.

If the proposal was taken under advisement, it went back during the week-long recess to the Hanoi politburo. The answer was more than plain as the delegation emerged from their ninth session Wednesday. Not only did the Hanoi delegation release yet another statement, but it did so even before the session ended, a new departure.

Hanoi apparently is bargain hunting: perhaps hoping to get a bargain in the form of ending the bombing without cost to North Vietnam, perhaps in the form of a cession of some of the South's territory, or perhaps in the form of a coalition in the South with the Viet Cong's Liberation Front in an influential role.

Conditions Are Almost Normal Now

TOPEKA (AP) — Conditions returned to near normal Wednesday night at four state institutions where members of a health workers union earlier claimed they had taken control.

The union has made demands for a wage increase and improved working conditions.

An order issued by the Shawnee County District Court late Wednesday restrained the Health Workers Local 1271, AFL-CIO, from interfering with operation of the state hospitals and custodial institutions. These include the Topeka State Hospital, Kansas Neurological Institute, Kansas Children's Treatment Center and the Boys Industrial School, all in Topeka.

The court set June 25 for a hearing on a temporary injunction requested by state officials.

Emerson Stamps, chairman of the union local, said workers resumed normal activities under supervision "for the good of the patients."

Union leaders, in a news conference Wednesday night, called for a demonstration today in front of the statehouse to support their position. Attorneys of the union and the Division of Institutional Management are scheduled to meet at the statehouse to draw up a list of points for discussion.

The court's restraining order was served on about six workers who had remained at the institutions. Some 40 workers were named in the order, including Dr. William G. Bronston, who said he was a community advisor to the union. Dr.

Attempt To Form Government

ROME (AP) — Jovial former Premier Giovanni Leone called in leaders of Italy's main parties today in an attempt to form an interim government.

The 60-year-old Christian Democratic senator from Naples was named premier-designate Wednesday by President Giuseppe Saragat in an attempt to end a two-week-old political crisis.

Leone, one of the most popular figures in Italian politics, must pull together a government which will not antagonize the chief elements of the nation's shattered center-left coalition, the Christian Democrats and the Socialists.

The Socialists, who lost ground in the May general election, bolted the alliance when Parliament reconvened June 5 and prevented Christian Democratic Premier Aldo Moro from restoring the center-left majority with which he governed Italy for four and a half years.

Leone said he would report back to the president in three or four days.

He made clear he would rely on the center-left parties for support. The left wing of the Christian Democrats refused to take any post in the Cabinet, however, and some Socialists made clear they would vote against him.

People In The News

MISSOULA, Mont. (AP) — Reve Morrow Lindbergh, 22 youngest daughter of famed Atlantic-crossing pilot Charles A. Lindbergh, was married Wednesday in a private ceremony on a ranch near here.

Miss Lindbergh, a teacher at Darien, Conn., was married to Richard W. Brown, 22, Wellesley, Mass., also a teacher. The wedding was at the ranch of her brother, Land Lindbergh.

Reportedly, her father, now an aviation consultant, was unable to attend the ceremony.

LONDON (AP) — Frank Sinatra spent the day Wednesday in London with his estranged wife, actress Mia Farrow, but said they were not reconciled.

"I have nothing more to say," the 51-year-old singer told newsmen as he prepared to fly to West Germany today to visit a daughter.

Miss Farrow has been making movies in London for several months.

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Doctors say singer Jimmie Rodgers, recovering satisfactorily from his third operation since he was found in his car with a fractured skull, is expected to leave the hospital in two weeks.

Rodgers was taken from the intensive care unit of St. Vincent's Hospital Wednesday, two days after a 4½-hour operation to put a metal plate in his skull. The 34-year-old singer has claimed he was knocked down early last Dec. 1, but two police officers have contended Rodgers fell.

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Cowboy actor William Boyd, 73, who portrayed "Hopalong Cassidy" in movie roles, was released from St. Vincent's Hospital Wednesday, two weeks after being admitted for a throat operation. An enlarged lymph gland was removed, doctors said.

The "F" under the date on the buffalo nickel is not a mint mark. It stands for the designer, James Earle Fraser.

Hear Plea For Possible Church Merger

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Delegates to the 17th General Assembly of the Church of the Nazarene heard a plea Wednesday night for closer cooperation and a possible merger with a sister denomination.

Bishop Myron F. Boyd, president of the National Holiness Association and a vice president of the National Association of Evangelicals, told the Nazarenes, "As holiness people, we must get closer together, either by force or by choice."

"We cannot go along with the great, broad, liberal ecumenical movement of our day, working toward one church," Bishop Boyd said. "Unless a deep spiritual revival takes place in Roman Catholicism and among the liberals in Protestantism, we must remain separate from the movement."

The Church of the Nazarene is the largest holiness body in the United States. Were it to join the N.H.A., it would increase membership by almost a half-million. Fifteen smaller denominations are now members of the N.H.A.

The delegates to the convention were scheduled to begin voting today on a list of about 160 petitions for legislative action.

The state of Rhode Island is officially known as Rhode Island and Providence Plantations.

Congress Responds To Appeals

KANSAS CITY (AP) — U.S. Sen. Edmund S. Muskie, D-Maine, said Wednesday that Congress has been responsive to the Poor Peoples March.

Speaking at a seminar in Kansas City, Muskie said one example was a stronger school lunch program.

"We were more sensitive to that issue because of the great emphasis the poor people placed on food and hunger," Muskie said.

"Congress responds slowly and agonizingly sometimes to lobbyists. We are responding to these people. We don't consider it blackmail. We have the duty to listen to them," he said.

The first Democratic governor of Maine in 20 years and the state's first Democratic senator by popular vote, Muskie said "there was a lot of concern for their problems before they (the poor people) came to Washington."

"Congress enacted many programs that maybe they were unaware of because they haven't been funded properly," he said.

At the seminar in the Professional Urban Public Administration series, sponsored by the University of Missouri at Kansas City, Muskie called for innovations at every level of government.

"One of the most alarming manifestations of our times," he said, "is the helter-skelter growth of bureaucracy at every level."

"Our challenge is to convert this into a partnership of federal, state and local governments, with goals understood, responsibilities placed, authorities provided and fiscal resources available."

Regent of DAR Chapter Is Installed

Mrs. George McCurdy was installed as regent of Osage Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, June 15, at the Flag Day Breakfast held at Bothwell Hotel. Other officers installed were: Mrs. Maclom Scott, first vice-regent; Mrs. Oscar DeWolf, second vice-regent; Mrs. Charles Walkup, chaplain; Mrs. Everett G. Stumpf, recording secretary; Mrs. P. Cecil Owens, treasurer; Mrs. James L. Bass, registrar; Mrs. Williams B. Lewis, historian; Mrs. Stanley Fisher, librarian.

Mrs. Raymond T. Finks, state regent, installed the new officers for two-year terms. The prayer was given by Mrs. T.W. Croxton.

Miss Jessie Browneller gave the Flag Day message, telling the group that at Arrow Rock 30 years ago she gave the "Romance of Old Glory." At the meeting Saturday she gave "The Story of Our Flag Since 1938." She also told of the first flag the Osage Chapter. It was on a standard so tall and heavy that they had difficulty taking it from place to place, because they then met in the homes. When younger members with homes with low ceilings joined they had to measure to see if they could get the flag in the room. Then D.S. Lamm gave the chapter a flag in memory of his sister, Miss Nettie Lamm, and the old flag was given to Oak Grove School, where a member, Mrs. W.C. Tucker taught. Mrs. Tucker made American history very real to her pupils, and she loved the flag so much that when she died it was placed at the head of her casket, which has been her request.

It was on the 75th anniversary of the Battle of Gettysburg in 1938, that a reunion of the Blue and the Grey was held on the battlefield, and Charles A. Shaeffer, father of Miss Rebekah Shaeffer, attended. She accompanied him, and over the headquarter tent of the Union Army flew the stars and stripes and over the Confederate tent, the stars and bars. There were 79 veterans from Missouri.

Miss Borneller introduced Mrs. James L. Bass prior to her talk, who played two piano selections, "Look With Pride on Our Flag," by Hank Frost, and "God Bless America," by Irving Berlin.

Miss Lillian V. Thomson, regent, presided and introduced special guests, Mrs. Raymond T. Finks, state regent, and Mrs. T.W. Croxton, both of Jefferson City. This was guest day and the following guests were introduced: Mrs. P. R. Harris, Wichita, Kan., guest of Mrs. George Raouls; Mrs. O.J. Beumhardt, guest of Mrs. Herbert Seifert; Mrs. E.J. Green and Mrs. Wilton Wilke, guests of Mrs. Dimmitt Hoffman; Mrs. Walter Jordon, Franklin, Tenn., and Miss Minna Weems, Clarksville, Tenn., guests of Mrs. P.A. Sillers; Mrs. Leroy E. Rothganger, guest of Mrs. L.S. Payton; Miss Ida Cruzan guest of Miss Nell Longan; Mrs. Leon Wells and Miss Kathy Kempton guests of Mrs. George McCurdy; Mrs. Curtis Brosing guest of Miss Rebekah Shaeffer; Mrs. Maurice Curtis guest of Mrs. Malcom Scott; P. Cecil Owen guest of his wife and Greg Page guest of Mrs. C.F. Scotton.

Mrs. Del Heckart at the piano accompanied the group singing of the National Anthem. Miss Borneller led the Pledge of Allegiance to the Flag and to the State of Missouri, and The American's Creed. Miss Thomson led in the Daughters of American Revolution ritual and Mrs. William T. Sims, chaplain, offered prayer. The National Defense article was read by Mrs. H. E. Lindstrom and Mrs. Vernon Cordry brought the message from the President General, Mrs. William H. Sullivan, Jr.

Miss Thomson expressed appreciation to the officers, committee chairmen and members of the wonderful work they had done during her two years as regent. She said the chapter had met all requirements including the Gold Honor Award which made the Seventh consecutive year this honor was received, a blue ribbon received on the year book for two years, three good citizenship girls sponsored last year and five this year.

Hostesses for the day were: Mrs. John Ryan, Miss Marion Keens, Mrs. Judson Banks, Mrs. William K. Schupp, Mrs. Malcom Scott, Miss Rebekah Schaeffer, Mrs. Dimmitt Hoffman, Mrs. Calude A. Crole and Mrs. Robert A. Glass. Patriotic decorations were used along with flowers from Mrs. George Raouls garden.

Wins Suit Against 'Post'

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Former nightclub owner and dancer Lillian Reis was awarded $1,825,000 Tuesday in a libel suit against the Saturday Evening Post magazine.

Miss Reis, who was convicted in a widely publicized burglary trial several years ago, claimed invasion of privacy and libel from a Post article, "They Call Me Tiger Lil."

She sought $2 million in damages for the story published in 1963.

A jury of seven men and five women deliberated six hours before awarding the money to Miss Reis and her two daughters.

Miss Reis broke into tears at the verdict. She thanked each juror as he left the courtroom.

Her lawyer, Robert Simone, told the jury the article had caused Miss Reis and her daughters mental anguish and had pictured the former dancer as "the personification of evil."

Miss Reis was convicted in 1964 after two trials of masterminding a burglary police said netted $475,000 from the Pottsville, Pa., home of John B. Rich, a wealthy coal operator. The verdict, however, later was set aside and she is now free pending a new trial.

Double-decker buses, which are available to Parisians for the first time, may not enable passengers to reach their destinations any faster, but they certainly get an impressive view while they wait. Capitol Highlights

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep.
Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., says the proposed 10 per cent income tax surcharge, scheduled for a House vote Thursday, might have to be extended if the nation does not set its fiscal house in order.

The House Ways and Means Committee chairman said Tuesday he anticipates the fiscal situation will improve next year.
But the proposed surcharge is now scheduled to expire June 30, 1969, and Mills said consideration must be given to deficits
the following year.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Republicans have accused Democratic Presidents Johnson and John F. Kennedy of letting U.S. arms superiority slip away with the "wishful thinking" they could improve relations with the Soviet Union.

The 5,000-word election-year condemnation of Democratic foreign policy was released by the Republican National Committee Tuesday. It was drafted by the GOP Coordinating Committee's task force on foreign relations.

The Republican document charged the Democrats held back U.S. weapons development and tried to persuade the Soviets to follow suit.

But, it said, the Soviets have pushed ahead at a rate at which
"their strategic missile force will shortly equal ours."

Monday there is no reason why cities and states should bother

A $4 billion authorization—trimmed by about $357 million —for the civilian space program has been sent to President Johnson by Congress. The House, which had cut $339 million from the administration's $4.37-billion request, quickly agreed Tuesday to an additional $18 million cut by the Senate.

School Board
To Try Again
For Tax Hike
ST. CHARLES, Mo. (AP) —
The St. Charles Board of Education Tuesday night decided to ask voters a sixth time to approve an increase in the school tax. However, this time the Board will ask for less.

Voters have rejected a proposed 89-cent increase in the school levy in five successive elections. The Board decided to submit a 54-cent increase in a July 8 election.

The earlier tax proposals would have been effective for two years. The latest will be for one year.

If approved, the 54-cent increase would raise the district's school levy to $4.95 per $100 assessed valuation.

Better Family Living

A new finish for cotton fabrics that makes them repel such substances as salad dressing, but not water, has been developed by USDA researchers. Usually, when a fabric is treated to repel oily dirt, it also repels water and is impossible to wash properly because it doesn't really get wet.

Now the scientists have found a new chemical treatment. Cottons treated with the finish resist oily soil, as that on men's shirt collars, as well as staining by meat fats and vegetable oils. But when washing time comes, the treated fabric allows penetration by water and detergent to remove soil and any stains that do get into the fabric.

In their present state of development, the finishes can be used only on colored fabrics, since they make white ones yellow, so further research is necessary. The new finishes have great promise, however, and the scientists hope to combine these chemicals with those used in permanent press cotton, which tend to stain easier than untreated cottons.

Chicken Thighs
Custom-cut frying chickens have long ago proven to be popular with homemakers. They like buying breasts, thighs, drumsticks — whatever pieces are preferred by individual family members.

Until lately, most recipes calling for a specific part of the chicken have been slanted toward chicken breasts. Elegant dishes have been developed using the white meat of the chicken, usually in the form of boned breasts.

A short time ago the National Broiler Council evolved a simple system for boning chicken thighs. For using these they have developed the mini-roll — boned chicken stuffed and rolled. Other recipes for using boned thighs suggest many ways of bringing out a good cook's most creative potential.

Comparing cost of parts — The pricing of chicken by the piece may be set so that, on a cost per pound basis, favored breasts or thighs are actually cheaper than whole birds.

How to bone thighs — According to the Council, boning chicken thighs is a snap; it's even easier than boning the breasts. There's just one large bone to cope with. Use a sharp boning knife. To bone, cut along thinner side inside of thigh to the bone, slashing thigh the length of the bone. Holding one end of the bone, scrape the meat away until bone is free. Cut off round piece of cartilage. That's all there is to do, and there you have a wonderfully juicy flavorful "cutlet," to cook flat or roll.

Mini-Rolls — Here are the basic directions: Bone 12 thighs as directed, place boned thighs skin side down, and sprinkle with ¼ teaspoon salt. Combine ½ cup soft bread crumbs, ¼ cup minced celery, 2 tablespoons each finely chopped onion and parsley, and ½ teaspoon salt, divide among boned thighs, fold sides over stuffing, and fasten with small skewers or stuffing pins. Place seam side down in shallow baking pan and bake in a 400 degree F. oven for 40 minutes. Makes 6 servings.

Cut Some "Cutlets" — Boned chicken thigh meat may be pounded into a thin cutlet for quick cooking, and these are great too. To make Chicken Cutlets Valencia, bone 8 thighs and place between 2 pieces of foil; pound with rolling pin. Sprinkle with ½ teaspoon salt. Saute cutlets, skin side down, in a skillet with melted butter for 10 minutes. Turn, sprinkle with 2 tablespoons orange juice, 2 tablespoons chopped parsley, and 1 tablespoon chopped chives. Cook 10 minutes longer. Serve on rice and garnish with thin orange slices. Makes 4 servings.

Mini-Rolls on rolls — Sprinkle boned chicken thighs with salt, roll, fasten with small skewer or stuffing pins. Saute in butter in skillet for 20 to 25 minutes, turning occasionally. Serve on long rolls. Or saute flattened cutlets in a skillet for 20 minutes, turning once, and serve on burger buns. Great with mustard, relish, or hot barbecue sauce.

You can bone chicken thighs and freeze them in serving size packages.

Some Rules

I will learn more about foods so that I can fill my family's nutritional needs at a reasonable cost. I will study the economical cooking tricks — I will take time to get acquainted with normal prices, and with more than one store, so that I recognize a bargain when I see one. I will study the food ads for special buys and seasonal bargains before I go shopping. I will have a complete shopping list, but I will keep it flexible to allow for "finds." I will not buy — not often anyway — on impulse. I will look for weight and contents — even if this forces me to go to bifocals before my time... I will learn how many mouths I can feed from a given amount of the different foods in their different forms and try not to count on my fingers to figure cost per serving... I will try to avoid wasted leftovers, and I will buy in quantity only when I have safe, adequate storage space... I will keep a doubtful eye on tricky sales gimmicks and avoid merchandisers who mislead me... I will buy for value — not for premium offers or contest entry blanks... I will not be taken in by gadgetry or fancy packaging of flamboyant advertising... I will weigh the value of convenience to me versus its cost to me.

Try to Save Tree

LINCOLN, Neb. (AP) — A movement has begun to spare a healthy Russian white oak tree with a 30-inch diameter trunk that grew from an acorn brought from Russia in 1905. The tree sits in the path of a new road to be built on the University of Nebraska campus.

Real Estate Men Calm About High Court Rule

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Most real estate men and local officials polled on the potential effects of the U.S. Supreme Court's ruling this week barring racial discrimination in all housing are approaching the question with studied calm.

Many expressed confusion over how the decision will be implemented and how it will affect local and state laws on open housing.

Typical of reaction from realtors was the comment of Frank R. Hart, president of Walker and Lee, a residential brokerage firm in Orange County, Calif.

"In actual practice it will have very little effect," he said. "We sell minority people at this moment... whether a seller can be forced to sign a deed even against his own wishes is getting close to another issue of basic constitutional rights."

And C. D. Lebey, a director of the Atlanta Real Estate Board, summed up the feeling of many, saying the decision "is just one more factor that in many instances will cause confusion, concern and perhaps misunderstanding on the part of many home sellers and home buyers. I don't think anyone can really say to what extent real estate will be affected."

Gene Cosner, executive vice president of the National Association of Real Estate Boards, said the Supreme court decision, holding that an 1866 law bans discrimination in all housing, "makes any further open occupancy legislation unnecessary."

"We have had for many years in our association code of ethics a stipulation that we will offer property equally to any person without regard to race, creed or color. In this regard, I think we have gone further than the Supreme Court, since its ruling only covers racial discrimination..."

Jack Kleeman, executive vice president of the Chicago Real Estate Board, said he felt it was "too difficult to make a judgment" at this time.

Saying that local laws have done little "except to cause a little more talk," Clifford Robedaux, past president of the Milwaukee Board of Realtors noted:

"This probably puts us back to where we were before the agitation started. We had been making good progress, and there had been sales to Negroes. But all this agitation and violence caused a hardening of attitudes. Maybe people can relax now."

Said Senate minority leader Everett Dirksen: "The court has uttered the last word."

Muslims Into Picture

CHICAGO (AP) — God Helps Those Who Help Themselves! That headline, complete with exclamation point, appeared over an article by Elijah Muhammad in a recent issue of the Black Muslim weekly tabloid newspaper, "Muhammad Speaks."

The newspaper reached newsstands as the Poor People's Campaign moved on Washington to demand aid, but the head of the Black Muslims made no mention of the marchers, most of them Negroes.

"Imagine people with B.A., B.S., M.A., M.S. and Ph. D. degrees begging the white man to give them a job and care for them as their fathers did in slavery times," Muhammad wrote.

Muhammad suggested: "Get business minded."

He also wrote: "My followers and I, by the help of God, and with the respect of the nations of the earth, are trying to do something for ourselves."

Muhammad and many Black Muslims seem to be practicing what they preach.

Muhammad sent a letter to his followers March 20 in an effort to raise money to buy a Greek Orthodox Church building on Chicago's South Side. (A spokesman for the church said the building was not for sale, however).

"I am asking you to agree with me that we now take our savings and turn it over to the Mosque No. 2 Bank here (for one year or six months if you cannot do without your money) to purchase this place," the letter said.

"We will give the same rate of interest that the devil (Muslim synonym for the white man) is paying you on your money."

"We are sure we can pay every penny back according to our increase in the business of our restaurant, our supermarket, and our farms in the South and in Michigan," the letter continued.

"Will you please sacrifice to help raise this $3 million since we have spent over $2 million in cash, buying farms and expanding our businesses in Chicago?" the leader asked.

John Ali, Muslim contact for reporters, asked about the income of Muhammad or the Muslims, declined to give figures.

"No religious group does," he commented.

Just how much the Muslim organization does is a secret, although its monthly income has been estimated as up to $120,000 a month, from sales of the newspapers (15 cents in Illinois, 20 cents out of state), advertising in its pages; dues from members; donations from restaurants and other concerns owned by the organization, and income from the sale of Elijah Muhammad's records.

Ali also declined to give out figures for the Muslims' national membership which has been placed at 50,000 or 70,000 or more. But he and others indicated the total was growing.

"People are coming around to our way of thinking every day — organizations and individuals," John Ali said in an interview.

But he didn't name any groups that may be bidding for an association of some kind.

"In recent months they (Muslims) began to communicate more with other militant groups," said Sgt. Richard Brandt of the Intelligence Division of the Chicago Police Department.

"Other groups are trying to associate themselves with the Muslims," Brandt said.

The Muslims, long set in their nationalistic and separatist ways, have been working for years for black economic power. Now many other Negroes are beginning to see it as a means of self-improvement.

"I believe that since Cassius Clay came out for them (Muslims) membership has grown somewhat," Sgt. Brandt said.

Brandt estimated the Muslims number 3,000 in Chicago. Edmund Brooks of the Chicago Commission on Human Relations, a city government agency, said he believes the membership is larger, but offered no figures.

The two men agreed that the Muslims are not causing any problems at this time in Chicago.

"They're going into small business enterprises," Brooks said.

Elijah Muhammad, 70 now and the leader for 35 years, is the key figure in the Muslim business-religion establishment. He lives in a 19-room mansion in a racially mixed neighborhood on the South Side. John Ali, asked about Muhammad's health, replied he is very well.

The sect has the University of Islam, a mosque and the newspaper "Muhammad Speaks."

A check through the publication and the Chicago telephone book shows businesses with names using such Muslim terms as Mosque, Shabazz, Temple or Salaam. They include two cleaners, a supermarket, a barber-shop, a catering service, a television shop and two clothing stores.

John Ali declined to say if all are Muslim-owned. Others, he said, may run some of them.

"People can choose the names they want," he commented.

In the May 17 edition of "Muhammad Speaks" were large help-wanted ads by Shabazz Restaurant and the Temple No. 2 Clothing Factory.

A half-page was filled with a listing of Muhammad's mosques. They added up to 50 in 46 cities spread across the country. No. 1 is in Detroit, where the cult was founded in the early 1930s by W.D. Fard, who vanished in 1933. No. 2 is in Chicago.

Muslims are trying to acquire more property. Michigan State Police sent a letter to Chicago police in February saying they were watching the sale of farm land in Cass County in the southwestern section of the state.

They had heard rumors that Negro groups were buying land in that area. The name of Cassius Clay had been mentioned. One parcel, the letter said, had been bought by the Progressive Land Development Corp. of Chicago. Chicago police replied that files indicated the president of the corporation was Raymond Sharrieff, son-in-law of Elijah Muhammad.

A land of their own is at the top of the list of Muslim wants—a list unchanged in recent years.

The Muslims contend the white men, in compensation for 400 years of slavery, should give them a separate territory and maintain it for 20 to 25 years.

Federal Grant For Services

JEFFERSON CITY (AP)—A federal grant of $109,200 for the Missouri technical services program was announced today by Henry Maddox, director of the state division of commerce and industrial development. It will be matched by state funds.

Dies at Age 56

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Professor Lewis L. Tureen, chairman of the section of neurology at St. Louis University, died Tuesday at the age of 56.

Dr. Tureen was widely known for his research on multiple sclerosis and muscular dystrophy. He had written over 100 papers on those subjects.

RASCAFRIA, Spain (AP) — The roofs of the 15th century Carthusian monastery of El Paular were destroyed by fire of unknown origin Tuesday but the main altar, with an oriental alabaster retablo regarded as one of the richest in Spain, was undamaged. Loss was estimated at $28,500.

Crowd Counting Formula

A huge rally on behalf of the poor was staged in Washington, D. C. Wednesday. Attendance at noon was estimated by the Police Chief at 27,500. Another person said it grew to 35,000 and was heading for 50,000.

Did you ever try to estimate the crowd at a rally or some other public function? The figure is usually guess work and an exaggeration.

Accuracy is difficult in such cases and naturally one agrees a head count of a big audience is next to impossible, especially in moving groups such as those in Washington.

But there is such a thing as a crowd counting formula which came to our attention recently. Herbert Jacobs, a University of California, Berkeley, journalism lecturer and long-time Wisconsin newsmen, has unveiled "Jacobs' Crowd Formula" in hope of ending the practice of underestimates and overestimates.

The formula calls for walking off the length of the gathering, the width, adding the two figures and multiplying by ten if the crowd is tightly packed, or by seven if loosely gathered together.

Jacobs claims he has measured the density for sit-ins—6.7 feet per seat and said the average person in a crowd takes up from six to eight square feet. He perfected his formula by studying crowds in the University, including a student strike. The strike committee said 8,000 put up their hands in favor of a strike. Other observers placed the figure between 5,000 and 10,000. Jacobs took a photo, enlarged it and counted 2,804 heads.

Now why didn't someone do that from the top of the Washington monument Wednesday and forever put to rest the contradictory estimates of attendance at the rally gathering?

However, whether there were 27,500 or 50,000 persons there, a few thousand over or under the estimate will not make much difference to the participants. They are convinced the affair was a success in efforts to attract attention to the poor people's plight which is as bad in Resurrection City as most anywhere else in the United States.

Washington Merry-Go-Round

Minority Students Plot Strategy

(Editor's Note: This is the second of a series of Washington Merry-Go-Round columns on the student revolt which has been disrupting campuses around the world.)

DREW PEARSON and JACK ANDERSON

WASHINGTON — The student revolt is so complex that it's impossible to generalize regarding its origins, aims and frustrations. In some respects it is to the left of Communism. In other respects it's a healthy reach for more participation in political life, which took the form of doorbell ringing for Sen. Eugene McCarthy and Sen. Bobby Kennedy.

It also has international political overtones, as when Berlin students paralyzed the newspapers of Axel Springer, who is so Pro-West that his plant is built practically on the Berlin Wall. His competitors encouraged the student revolt to the point that Der Spiegel bored its readers with nine issues carrying page after page on the battle of Springer vs. students.

One significant aspect of the student revolt, however, is the manner in which a small minority — less than one per cent — represented by the Students for a Democratic Society, was able to paralyze Columbia University.

The Students for a Democratic Society had broken away from the moderate National Student Association in 1962 to organize the "New Left" for American campuses. Last August, while the National Student Association was meeting at the University of Maryland, the SDS organized a counter-congress, also at College Park, Md., to pull students over to the "New Left."

Strategy was to set targets which university executives could not possibly accept, then stage strikes if they were not accepted. This was exactly what happened.

Mark Rudd, who last fall visited Cuba as the guest of Fidel Castro, wrote a secret strategy program Columbia, giving step-by-step plans to take over the University, which follows in part:

"To be militant is to fight to achieve a specific goal: Let us clearly state that our goal is to end university complicity with the war: IDA (Institute for Defense Analysis), ROTA, CIA contracts, recruiting, etc. But we can never force the university to submit to our demands unless we have behind us the strength of the majority of students on campus. We can achieve this majority at Columbia, where over half of the students 'are against the war,' but we will need real organizational strength to mobilize these people."

Mark Rudd then outlined the following strategy, step by step:

"Phase I: Decision and positions. November.

"A committee elected by the general assembly draws up a statement of general strategy and a position paper (a very broad theoretical statement of SDS' objections to the federal presence). These statements should be discussed and adopted by the general assembly as official guidelines for the campaign. The organization should be discussed and the structure laid out.

"Phase II: Organization and training. November-December.

"A research committee prepares a ten or 15-page factual paper with bibliography for the dorm canvassers. The dorm organization is constructed, with a committee for each dorm. Canvassers discuss arguments they will probably encounter in their work, as well.

Looking Backward

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO

The Sedalia Life Underwriters Association met at the Bothwell Hotel with Virgil Rager presiding. Hugo Sparr, chairman of the nominating committee, submitted the following list of officers who were elected: President, L. J. Banner; First Vice-President, William P. Hurley; Second Vice-President, L.E. Ray; Treasurer, W.L. Reed; Secretary, George Yeaman.

FORTY YEARS AGO

Miss Elizabeth Berthouex, teacher at Washington school, and Miss Mary Lee Mudd of Broadway school, departed for Los Angeles where they will attend the University of Southern California for the summer term.

NINETY YEARS AGO

Marshall Kelly and Mr. Gates, the gentlemen who overhauled the fire engine, were busily engaged yesterday opening and inspecting all the hydrants in the city. Nothing like seeing that everything is in order, as it would be too late after a fire broke out.

It's the Law

QUESTION: Is it possible for a debtor to pay a substantial debt by the use of coins?

FACTS: Joe Spouse had lost a bitterly contested divorce action to his wife and she had been awarded alimony at the rate of $150.00 per month. Joe was completely burned up over this judgment and when the first payment fell due he lugged a canvas bag over to his former wife's house and when she answered the door he threw it on the porch and told her he was going to pay all alimony each month in this fashion. The bag contained $150.00 in pennies. Joe's former wife contacted her lawyer who in turn notified Joe to pay up with legal tender or he would attach his wages. Was Joe's payment proper?

ANSWER: The answer is no! Pennies are not legal tender at all, and in the State of Missouri, silver coins are legal tender only to a certain amount. Dimes and nickels are legal tender up to $10.00 and quarters are legal tender up to $20.00. Beyond that point a creditor does not have to accept silver. Considerable doubt exists as to what is legal tender now since silver coins are rapidly disappearing from circulation. There is some very curious wording in the Missouri law because it says "no person shall have the right to pay, upon any one debt, dimes and half dimes to an amount exceeding ten dollars ($10.00), or of twenty and twenty-five cent pieces exceeding twenty dollars ($20.00). Has anyone seen a 20 cent piece lately?

Long-Standing 'Insanity'

A game called "Instant Insanity" is reportedly breaking sales records. It consists merely of four plastic blocks which, when arranged correctly, have four different colors showing on each side.

It's called "Instant Insanity" because the odds on assembling the blocks in proper order by chance are 41,000 to one.

Americans are already having trouble enough figuring out how to arrange society so that two different colors can live side by side in harmony. It is to be hoped, however, that the odds against the solution to this problem are somewhat smaller.

THE GLOBAL VIEW

French Fear Red Rule, So They'll Back De Gaulle

By LEON DENNEN
NEA Foreign News Analyst

NEW YORK (NEA) — "Have no fear—I shall not fail to die," President De Gaulle once assured France's ambitious and squabbling politicians.

At 78, the old general is still very much alive though his father-image is tarnished and his vision of France's "grandeur" turned into a nightmare. Even his anti-American and pro-Russian policies lie in shambles.

Nevertheless, the Gaullists and their allies on the right, like Giscard d'Estaing, are expected to win a comfortable majority in the elections to the National Assembly June 23.

After all the barricades, revolts and strikes that shook France in May there is not a single charismatic leader on the political scene to replace the aged general.

His non-Communist opponents on the left, like Francois Mitterand and Mendes-France, failed to capture the imagination of the rebellious students and young workers. They offered no real alternative to De Gaulle's paternalistic rule.

All they could suggest was a popular front government—a coalition with the Communists—that is unacceptable to a majority of French men and women on the right and on the left.

It is not because they love De Gaulle that the French will vote again for him on June 23 and June 30 but because they abhor and fear the Communists. That is why he is also backed by the army which has good reason to distrust him.

"De Gaulle betrayed us during the Algerian crisis," a prominent French general told this writer in Paris. "But if there is a danger of a popular front government with the Communists we shall back him to the bitter end."

De Gaulle knows it. Like Egypt's President Nasser, he flirted with the Russians to undermine the United States. But, like Nasser, he never trusted the domestic Communists.

He now hopes to win the elections by making the campaign an issue between the French flag and the red flag, between order and chaos and between patriotism and subversion.

There is no longer any doubt that the Communist party was the real casualty of the strikes and riots.

Two decades ago the spontaneous revolts would have brought Moscow's partisans in France to power. Today, the students and young workers in France, West Germany, Italy and the United States regard the Communists as pot-bellied middle-aged opportunists whose primary aim is to serve Russia's foreign policies.

As young Daniel Cohn-Bendit who led the student revolt in Paris said, the official pro-Russian Communists are little more than "Stalinist pigs."

For Soviet foreign policy the events in France were even a greater blow than Israel's defeat of the Arabs last June. The Soviet leaders considered their rapprochement with France and De Gaulle's anti-NATO policies as a major factor in their European policy. It represented for them an important strategic and prestige victory over the United States.

But De Gaulle found out the hard way that the French, except the Communists, would not tolerate a complete break with the United States or with NATO.

Now the Warsaw Pact Alliance—Moscow's equivalent of NATO—is in serious difficulty because of the anti-Russian policies on Romania and Czechoslovakia. But NATO received a new lease on life.

There is an old French saying that "the more things change the more they remain as before." But things do change and history does not stand still.

France will never be the same after the riots. Instead of harboring illusions of grandeur, De Gaulle, if he is to remain president until his term expires in 1972, will have to take Voltaire's advice and cultivate his own garden. He will have to rejuvenate France's antiquated education system. Instead of undermining the American dollar, he will have to increase the wages of the workers who are the most underpaid in West Europe.

Also, for the first time in a decade, there is reason to believe that Britain will be finally admitted to the European Common Market. European unity, long postponed, will thus make a substantial step forward.

There are lots of differences between duplicate and rubber bridge. We have discussed the greater value of extra tricks in duplicate on many occasions. We have also pointed out that the duplicate player's knowledge of how to get extra tricks becomes really important in rubber bridge when his extra trick means that he has made his contract instead of going down.

At both games, the toughest bidding problems occur when both sides are in action and you have to decide between bidding on, passing or doubling your opponents. A good decision in these situations will be most profitable, a bad decision most expensive. Take today's hand as an example. Playing with reasonable care West can make nine tricks with spades as trump; he will lose two clubs, one spade and one diamond. Playing with equal care South can make 10 tricks at hearts. He will lose one spade, one heart and one diamond.

Now look at the bidding. North's opening no-trump is sound indeed. South's two-heart response is a typical weakness response. That is, it is typical except that South's 6-4-2-1 distribution means that four hearts may well be there for the bidding. Still, he only holds one king and two jacks and his two-heart response is correct.

West is certainly entitled to back in with two spades and North, with a sound no-trump, good hearts and three aces, is justified in trying three hearts as a competitive measure. East's three-spade call is based on a desire to get his opponents to four hearts and South obliges.

West's four-spade call is a deliberate sacrifice bid. He expects that South will make four hearts. North's five-heart call is ill-advised. He doesn't expect that his partner can make four hearts and he really should expect to beat four spades. As pointed out earlier he would have done so, and a double would get him plus 200. Instead, his five-heart bid was doubled by East for a minus 200, a waste of 400 points.

In a New Mood

By CYRENE DEAR

WASHINGTON, D.C. — "I would like the opportunity to provide the new leadership for the United States which is what we so badly need," said Governor Nelson Rockefeller of New York when he was introduced as the "unequivocal" candidate to the National Press Club. "I want to tell it as it is, and face realistically the problems of today. We have a personal commitment to those who have given their lives for the young, the poor, the disadvantaged, our great institutions and the challenges of this country," he said. "But we must not lose the freedom of safety in our homes and other places lest we lose our place in the free world."

The Governor continued, "Our people are in a new mood, a mood away from old political policies, and we must seek to lead the nation in facing the problems which exist."

On the issues, the Governor agreed with President Johnson that the only way to peace in Vietnam is at the negotiating table but that will take a long time. He said we are fighting both China and Soviet Russia over there. He does not consider that a coalition government is the answer; it must be the government the South Vietnamese people want.

He thinks the Congress should pass the tax proposed by President Johnson and also place the emphasis on priority expenditure funds.

The Rockefeller fortune was referred to as being 200 billion dollars by the President of the Club in his introduction. The Governor was asked about the expense of the campaign. "It is expensive, and the media cost the most. I shall use it because it is the best way of reaching the most people."

In discussing his chief opponent for the nomination he said, "Dick Nixon is the favorite of the party. He is a brilliant man, but a recent statement of his may make a difference." The Governor quoted Nixon as having said, "Perhaps we can get George Wallace on our side, and that is where he belongs."

It was suggested that Governor Rockefeller appoint Richard Nixon to the Senate as a replacement of the late Senator Robert Kennedy. With great enthusiasm he laughingly remarked, "I'll buy that, but it takes two to tango."

THE DOCTOR SAYS

Use Extreme Caution With Aerosol Can Sprays

By WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.

It would seem that every modern invention brings with it its own special hazards. The aerosol can, a device whose uses have multiplied like well-to-do rabbits, is no exception. One woman threw an empty aerosol can in her back-yard incinerator. The can exploded with such force that a piece of the can severed her jugular vein.

When using any kind of spray, be sure to read the label and follow the directions exactly. Remember that even an empty can may still contain enough propellant gas to cause a violent explosion when heated. This may also occur when a can is left in the trunk of an automobile parked in the sun on a hot day.

Some sprays are inflammable. These must never be used near a stove or open fire. Other sprays emit toxic fumes and should be used only where there is good ventilation. Finally, before you discard an aerosol can, be sure to open the valve and exhaust as much of the spray as you can.

Q — When I eat meat, I get a severe headache. I have taken all kinds of headache pills but none of them help. What should I do to prevent these headaches?

A — This sounds like an allergic reaction. Your doctor can check this by eliminating all forms of meat, fish, fowl and meat products from your diet. If this stops the headaches, the chances are that only one kind of meat is the true offender. A small test dose of about a half-ounce of one kind of meat could be added to your diet and, if there is no reaction, the amount could be gradually increased. Other kinds of meat could then be added in the same way, one at a time. Those that cause headaches should be eliminated from your diet completely.

Q — What causes arthritis of the neck? Can it be cured?

A — This is the general but rarely used term for any disease of a joint. In many cases, improvement will occur with appropriate treatment. Mild exercises to prevent stiffening of the joint are usually helpful.

Q — What would cause a person to feel cold all the time — even in warm weather? Is there any cure?

A — This may be caused by chronic anxiety, a deficiency of thyroid secretion or poor circulation associated with such diseases as Buerger's disease and Raynaud's disease. The treatment would depend on the cause.

What Is Death?

The increase in surgical heart transplants is raising scientific, legal and ethical questions as to "What is death?" Howard A. Rusk M.D., medical columnist for the N.Y. Times has given some opinions.

In most states, death legally occurs when the individual is declared dead by a licensed physician, the basic criteria being no pulse and no heart sound. In the case where no physician is available, if a mirror is held over the mouth and no moisture gathers the individual is presumed to be dead.

These tests have not always held valid in medical history, and individuals have been discovered alive in the morgue or on an autopsy table. In a recent issue of the Journal of the American Medical Association, two doctors proposed the following general definition of human death:

"Death is irreversible cessation of all of the following: (1) Total cerebral function, (2) spontaneous function of the respiratory system, (3) spontaneous function of the circulatory system."

"Special circumstances may, however, justify the pronouncement of death when consultations, consistent with established professional standards, have been obtained and when valid consent to withhold or stop resuscitative measures have been given by appropriate relatives or legal guardian."

Lawyers also have their legal definition of death. Pope Pius XII gave his definition in 1957: "Human life continues for as long as its vital functions, distinguished from the simple life of the organs, manifest themselves without the help of artificial process."

It is timely that The American Heart Association has announced that it will make a thorough investigation into the scientific, legal and ethical questions resulting from heart transplants. It is essential that uniform regulations be established.

Berliners Remember Airlift

BERLIN (AP) — U.S. Air Force Gen. Curtis LeMay was incredulous. Army Gen. Lucius D. Clay was on the telephone asking if airplanes would haul coal, tons of it. And food supplies. Enough to support a city of 2.2 million people.

The Soviet Union had decided it would squeeze the Western allies out of Berlin by starving West Berliners and cutting off their fuel and power.

It was June 24, 1948 and the Berlin blockade was on tight.

Now, 20 years later, it is clear the Allied airlift that broke the blockade's back was a Cold War victory, perhaps the greatest.

The blockade attempt was a Soviet miscalculation that cost the Kremlin inestimable prestige.

When the blockade ended May 12, 1949, West Berlin, 110 miles inside the Soviet zone of Germany, was on the way to becoming a going concern, a window to the West behind the Iron Curtain. Morale was never higher. West Germany, where the airlift planes took off, had set out on the road to becoming a firm Western ally.

The grit and courage of the Berliners who stuck it out under tremendous pressure did much to rehabilitate the image of Germans generally, only three short years after World War II. And Stalin's power play rallied the West as perhaps nothing else could have, short of war.

It was 48 hours before LeMay at U.S. Air Force headquarters at Wiesbaden was able to act on the order from Clay, then the U.S. governor of Germany, to start hauling coal and other vital supplies in airplanes to West Berlin.

When the first twin-engine C47 "Gooney Birds" with 2½ ton capacity landed in West Berlin, the Russians may have snickered.

By the end of 1948 the Russians seemed to be having second thoughts. But it was not until April 16, 1949, that the Soviets knew they had failed.

On that day, the airlift hauled 12,000 tons of supplies in 1,383 flights. The "Gooney Birds" had been replaced by C54s of 10-ton capacity, and other larger aircraft. The basic requirement of 3,500 tons a day had been outstripped by far.

The incredible had happened: An isolated metropolis was successfully being supplied from the air in fair weather and foul.

Although the blockade formally was ended in secret negotiations at the United Nations between Soviet Ambassador Jacob Malik and U.S. Ambassador Philip Jessup in May, 1949 it was not until September that the last airlift plane had landed.

Called Operation Vittles by the Americans and Operation Plainfare by the British, the airlift amassed volumes of statistics.

A total of 2,352,509 tons of supplies leapfrogged the Soviet stranglehold on road, rail and water routes to West Berlin. A million tons of coal were hauled.

When the airlift began West Berlin had less than a month's supply of food and fuel. When it ended, a year's supply of necessities had been stockpiled.

American planes accounted for well over 70 per cent of the net tonnage, with British planes flying about 23 per cent. Seventy-five men gave their lives in the airlift.

But statistics cannot tell all the story.

The airlift essentially was a human drama of strain and improvisation. At one point the worst fog in 20 years closed down airfields. Snow slowed the airlift. Naval experts in blind landings were brought in.

When the Soviets cut off Eastern power sources, a complete power plant was flown in.

It took more than 60,000 human beings in the air and on the ground to run the operation 24 hours a day.

A man of about 50 who has lived his whole life in Berlin was asked recently about the toughest time he and his family ever faced. "Not the war," he answered. "We always had enough to eat then. Not the air raids or even the Russian invasion. The toughest time was the blockade. Then we were hungry and cold and the airlift saved us."

Television Explores The Land of High Speeds

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Craig Breedlove has difficulty answering two questions, most often asked by nervous back-seat drivers.

"Why do you feel a need to drive a jet-powered automobile at such enormous speed?" "How does it feel to be moving close to the sound barrier in a piece of machinery that can—and has—broken under the strain?"

Breedlove set the world land speed record three years ago by traveling 600.601 miles per hour. His ambition is to be the first man to break the sound barrier on land.

"Well, I wanted to return the land speed record to the United States," answered the slight, soft-spoken young man. "That seemed important at the time. Besides, it's a sport and it's also interesting and helpful from a technological standpoint. It tells us things about parachute braking, for instance."

As for the feeling at high speeds, he can only say "it's hard to describe. It's a phenomenal feeling—a special mixture of emotional and psychological reactions."

Breedlove and his wife, Lee, are the subject of an hour-long ABC special to be shown at 4 p.m. EDT Saturday.

During one of his runs on the Bonneville Salt Flats of Utah, his car had mechanical trouble and went out of control traveling at 600 miles an hour without brakes. He wrestled with it until, traveling at around 400 miles an hour it sheered off two telephone poles, climbed a salt bank and pancaked into a salt lake. Breedlove climbed out—with two skinned knees.

Mrs. Breedlove who until their marriage seven years ago had never been near a racing car, holds the woman's land speed record, driving the same jet-powered car 308.56 miles an hour.

"I wanted her to drive so that we could share that part of our lives," he said. "And then I learned what wives go through. I was plenty upset when she was making that run."

The three major networks had their problems Wednesday covering highlights of the Solidarity Day events of the Poor People's Campaign. The observances were running about half an hour behind schedule.

ABC pre-empted its late afternoon "Dating Game" for a half-hour round up. CBS and NBC gave their special coverage in a time period reserved for local station programming.

All three concentrated on the same bases—the presence of political figures and celebrities; shots of the marchers and the entertainment. NBC stayed with the coverage for about an hour, through the speech by Mrs. Martin Luther King, Jr.

To Auction Artillery

These artillery pieces, all from World War I, are part of a $20,000 collection which will be auctioned in Los Angeles, Sunday. The collection, owned by the San Francisco De Young Museum of Art, was picked up during a 1919 tour of European battlefields. None of the firing pieces are operable. Included also is a small Renault assault tank, slightly damaged in the Battle of Verdun. (UPI)

Mayors Meet To Form a Coalition

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Missouri mayors met in St. Louis Wednesday to "head off bankruptcy" of the cities by forming an urban coalition that will provide a better distribution of state funds.

Among those present were Mayors A. J. Cervantes of St. Louis, Illus Davis of Kansas City; Carl Stillwell of Springfield and Douglas Merrifield of St. Joseph.

Mayor Donald Slusher of Independence was unable to attend, but pledged his support to any statewide coalition formed at the meeting.

The mayors issued a statement saying the cities and their school districts "are facing a financial crisis which they are unable to cope with from municipal revenue sources."

"Many cities and school districts," the statement added, "have exhausted sources of local revenue because of limitations in the state constitution and the state statutes."

Chronic Alcoholic Real Menace

By RALPH DIGHTON
AP Science Writer

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Not the social drinker but the chronic alcoholic is the real menace on the highway, says a physician who has made a three-year study of fatal accidents.

Dr. Melvin Selzer told a news conference at the American Medical Association convention today, "the unrecognized danger is the driver who drinks to excess and who usually has emotional or mental problems—the alcoholic."

"Of course, the risk of accident rises the more drinks you have, but the emphasis on social drinking is obscuring a much greater peril, the addict to alcohol who may have an ordinary traffic record right up to his first—and last—major accident."

Dr. Selzer, a psychiatrist at the University of Michigan's Highway Research Institute, studied the personal history of 96 drivers responsible for fatal accidents and found 36 to be known alcoholics.

"The presence of a large number of alcohol-addicted drivers in this group suggests why the problem of the 'drinking driver' has not been resolved," he said.

Dr. Selzer said alcoholics tend to have overwhelming emotional and personal problems and that this may be as important as intoxication in causing accidents.

He spoke at a program on automotive injuries at which Dr. Seymour Charles of the Physicians for Automotive Safety, Newark, N.J., charged that cars have become "the major instruments of violence and aggression in our violent society."

"Even the names of the automobiles designed to appeal to the young are symbolic," he said. "They are named after predators—animals of attack and aggression."

Dr. Paul W. Gikas of the University of Michigan reported a four year study of 177 highway deaths and said that more than half the victims would have survived if they had used seat belts and shoulder straps.

Terrorists Kill 125 Viet Civilians

SAIGON (AP) — Viet Cong terrorists killed 125 South Vietnamese civilians last week, including four hamlet chiefs. U.S. officials reported.

Another 325 civilians were wounded and 29 others were kidnapped. The officials said.

Since the beginning of the year terrorists have killed more than 2,200 civilians, wounded more than 4,700 and abducted 3,700 others. Vietnamese police officials said.

This does not include civilians killed in the fighting or during the Viet Cong's Tet offensive in February.
